KILL-CRAZY KID CAPTURED IN WYOMING

Trickster Gets Prison Term

Judge Declares, 'No Alternative'

Ronald E. Jones, Chillicothe, formerly associated with a local implement dealer, was sentenced to one-to-seven years at hard labor in the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday in the Ross County Common Pleas Court. Jones was at one time owner of the now defunct Jones Implement Co., Kingston.

Jones, 33, pleaded guilty to one of four charges of larceny by trick and threw himself on the mercy of the court. The defendant returned from Winter Park, Fla., for his trial.

Specifically, Jones was declared guilty of double and even triple financing. He was reported to the prosecuting attorney by Arthur Hartsock, Stoutsburg, after Hartsock paid off a loan on a tractor but kept receiving dividends from the finance company.

Jones asked the court for another chance but Judge Howard Goldsberry said, "The court would like to give you another chance, but the magnitude and extent of these dealings you've been party to, leave me no alternative but to sentence you to the Ohio Penitentiary."

Jones was quoted "I want to be able to come back and face my friends. I'll pay back those whom I owe if it takes me the rest of my life."

J. DONALD RATCLIFF, special investigator in the case said, "Transactions were so complex that we had difficulty keeping track of things." The study took Ratcliff into seven counties and he said that in his ten years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, "few cases were as complex and complicated as this one."

Ratcliff continued, "I don't feel Jones could ever make restitution to all the people. We feel he has hurt a lot of people—some badly. Dearborn Motors Financing Corp., alone, has told me they lost $75,000 on contracts through Jones Implement Co."

Jones was at one time used as an example by a leading implement firm as the top salesman in the U. S.

Military Grip On U.S. Space Study Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appears headed toward a showdown battle over civilian vs. military control of outer space tests.

A decision by Secretary of Defense McElroy to set up a Pentagon Advanced Research Projects Agency brought open opposition today to over-all military direction of space developments.

McElroy said the ARPA, which is to work on antimissile and outer space projects, will be officially set up "in a day or two." He said he wants it in existence before funds are voted for it.

While they did not immediately challenge McElroy's decision, Chairman Russell (D - Ga) and other members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said the secretary's action is not going to be accepted by them as any final determination of who will supervise the race to space.

"This is a matter on which Congress must have full information," Russell said. "This is too vital a matter to be disposed of by some administrative order."

Russell said he is opposed to putting direction of the program in the hands of the Atomic Energy Commission as Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Gore (D-Tenn) have proposed. They too have opposed military control.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) proposed a separate Cabinet-level department, saying, "The peaceful conquest of space is highly important and must not be overshadowed by military projects."

Prober Calls Educator 'Liar'

Brooklyn School Aide's Suicide Is Debated

NEW YORK (AP)—Top school officials say a junior high school principal may have killed himself because a grand juror threatened him with indictment. The foreman of the jury says this charge is a "deliberate lie."

The accusation came Wednesday at funeral services for George Goldfarb, 55, principal of Brooklyn's John Marshall School.

On Tuesday, Goldfarb leaped from the roof of his apartment house at the time he was to make his third appearance before the Brooklyn grand jury. The panel is probing crime and juvenile delinquency in the public schools.

Charles H. Silver, president of the City Board of Education, told newsmen at Goldfarb's last rites that the school principal had been threatened with indictment and "this probably caused him to take his life. He was very worried."

As School Supt. William Jansen listened and nodded approval Silver said: "Several hours before Mr. Goldfarb appeared before the grand jury last Thursday for the second time he came before the Board of Education."

"IN DISCUSSING with us his grand jury interrogation, he said that a juror had warned him he might be, or could be, indicted."

No indication was given on what charge Goldfarb could have been indicted.

Grand jury foreman A. George Golden immediately issued a denial, terming Silver's statement "a deliberate lie," adding that Silver "made that up out of his own mind to befuddle the public."

A continuous public patrol was established both inside and outside the Marshall school, where a 13-year-old girl was raped 10 days ago, a policeman on duty outside the school was roughed up, and a recreational teacher was assaulted inside the school.

Dentist's Aching Back Under Study

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A UCLA physical education professor, Dr. Laurence Morehouse, and a dentist, Dr. Sanford S. Golden, are studying aching backs in the dental profession.

While working on a dummy patient, the dentist is tested for fatigue clues. His blood pressure, respiration and muscular efforts and tensions are recorded.

Dr. Morehouse said the research may lead to new dental equipment in which the dentist sits while the patient half reclines on a couchlike chair.

Ike Says Gov. O'Neill Follows 'Bad Example'

COLUMBUS (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a condolence message to Gov. C. William O'Neill, said he was distressed to learn that Ohio's Republican chief executive had "managed to follow my exceedingly bad example."

Gov. O'Neill was stricken a week ago with a heart attack. The President's letter, dated Jan. 28, was received today at O'Neill's statehouse office and forwarded to the governor's suburban Bexley mansion.

blood, dandruff, bad breath, corns and an aching back, due to worry over adequate air defense.

Friday evening, we read in a Columbus newspaper these headlines: "Pickaway Co. Missile Base in Confirmed, Super-Secret Project Revealed By Rep. Rivers." One thousand acres of Pickaway county land was to be used and long-range surface-to-air Bomarc guided missiles would probably be used, giving air defense to the targets in this area.

After reading the story, we cut down our sleeping pills from 20 to 10 and enjoyed a good night's sleep.

Saturday evening, this Columbus paper printed five 2-col pictures of people and homes in the Circleville area that would be affected by the base and reported "Pickaway Folks Take Missile Base In Stride." There were tender words about leaving the old farm, a neighbor dropping in with a warm loaf of bread, etc. The standard comments of the Pickaway county

Fire Strikes Johnson Family Second Time within Month

The old saying that "bad luck comes in bunches" certainly was realized today by the Cecil Johnson family of near Williamsport.

The hardluck family suffered its second house fire within a month early this morning. The first fire was January 7 when the Johnsons lived on the Hayesville-Allegheny Road about six miles south of Circleville.

Today's ill-fated blaze started at about 7:50 a. m. Williamsport firemen said fire and water damage amounted to about $1,000 to the house and approximately $300 to contents. The house is owned by Charles Schleick.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by faulty electrical wiring. The fire started in an upstairs storage closet.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their eight children moved to the Williamsport area earlier this month after their first home was destroyed.

According to Warren Wright, Williamsport Fire Chief, a large quantity of clothing donated by area persons after the first fire was destroyed by the blaze.

The Williamsport Department dispatched a tanker and pumper to the scene. They battled the fire for about 45 minutes before bringing it under control. Damage was confined mostly to the upstairs.

Syria-Egypt Merger Gets Close Study

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syria's desperate-looking pursuit of union with Egypt promises new turmoil in the Middle East, but for the two countries it may also mean mutual self-protection.

There is much justification for speculation that the extremists of Syria hope and intend to rekindle the flames of pan-Arab nationalism in Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon.

The same consideration could be behind the apparent acceptance of the idea by Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. But there seems to be more to the picture than just that.

In reports from Damascus and Cairo, sketchy as they have been on the detailed plans for this union, there are many overtones of worry.

Union of Syria and Egypt, apart from its aim of electrifying the Arab East's nationalists and bringing heavier pressures against other Arab governments, also implies a measure of insurance both for Egypt and Syria against growing Communist influence.

By joining with Egypt, the Syrian regime indicates it is willing to abolish all its political parties and join Cairo in a monolithic "national union" which will govern the united countries. This would mean the Communists in Syria would have to forego their open political activity.

The Communists are outlawed in both Syria and Egypt, despite the involvement of the two regimes militarily and economically with the Communist bloc.

Deputies Unimpressed By Daring Log Race

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two daring young men on big logs staged a 10-mile race on the rain-swollen Eel River Wednesday while hundreds of curious watched.

The race had no winner. Unsmiling deputy sheriffs ordered Eugene C. Smith, 18, and Clifford J. Bates, 26, ashore and charged them with disturbing the peace. They said the river was not even safe for a good-sized boat.

farmer was: "I hate to see this good farm land go."

Saturday night, we retired without taking a single sleeping pill. Instead of sleeping under a concrete block canopy in the basement, we repaired to our bedroom. We slept like a baby.

SUNDAY MORNING, we awakened and tossed our pajamas against the ceiling. A missile base near us! Air defense! We were overjoyed. Knowing many of the men on this Columbus paper that had given us the comforting and revealing stories we started shouting: "Long Live George Small-read! Long Live Jake Stahl! Long live Frank Maple! Curley Morrison! Johnny Jones! Gordon Gaaardner! Dawson Ousley! Long live Mel Tharp!"

Sunday morning, we picked up our Sunday edition. Not a word about the missile base. But, alas and alac, alas and alas, in the opposition paper we found a story that flooded us. We found we really had slept like a baby—we were

U.S. Summit View Debated

European Pressure Continues To Mount

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States faces mounting difficulties in holding to its position that a summit conference should be held only if there is advance proof it will be successful.

State Department officials are worried over reports from Western Europe that public opinion increasingly favors a top-level conference with Russian leaders on Soviet terms if it cannot be arranged on Western terms.

Officials report that there is so far no basic difference of view among Allied governments on their demand for careful preparation in advance of a top-level session. That preparation would have to afford proof that such a meeting can achieve agreements on important issues.

But public opinion in countries like Britain exerts a powerful pressure on government policies as it does here. This may make it difficult for the Allies to maintain a solid front on the matter.

Furthermore, the Soviets are expected to exploit to the limit the European interest in a meeting.

THE STATE Department has received a steady stream of reports this week from embassies abroad on European press reaction to comments made Sunday by White House news secretary James Hagerty.

Hagerty said in substance that the only thing necessary was to agree on an agenda. After the broadcast he specifically denied that he meant in any way to modify President Eisenhower's stated ambitions for a meeting.

Nevertheless, reports to the State Department show that his original remarks were interpreted as indicating a modification and in the last three days the department has been making public statements trying to knock down this idea. The latest came from press officer Lincoln White.

White told reporters "it should be abundantly clear" that the United States wants "to move toward a summit meeting under conditions which give promise of success."

Stockyard Change Set

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's stock-facilitating job. The Union Stockyard & Transit Co. plans to modernize the yards and convert 60 acres for lease or sale to industry.

Swaggering Charles Starkweather, 19, and his steady girl friend, Caril Fugate, 14, who have been charged with first-degree murder were jailed at Douglas, Wyo., Wednesday.

Striking by threes, the youth first killed Caril's family of three. Then in another foray discovered a day later, he killed a onetime hunting companion and two high school sweethearts.

Later, he shot down a prominent Lincoln business man; stabbed his wife and their 51-year-old housekeeper.

It was the tenth killing that broke the chain. A few minutes after he opened fire on a salesman napping in his car along a Wyoming highway he ran into Joe Sprinkle, tough Casper, Wyo., oil worker who wasn't afraid of the killer's rifle. Sprinkle stopped to investigate the stalled cars, appraised the situation and grappled for the rifle.

The killer got away, but by then law officers had arrived and he gave up after a short chase.

The victims slain in a 48-hour period: Marion Bartlett, 57, Lincoln, Caril's stepfather; Velda Bartlett, 37, Lincoln, her mother; and Betty Jean Bartlett, not quite 3, their daughter.

August Meyer, 70, Bennet farmer; Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school student; and Carol King, 16, Bennet, Robert's girl friend.

C. Lauer Ward, 47, Lincoln business man; Clara Ward, 47, his wife; and Lillian Fencil, 51, the Ward's housekeeper.

Merle Collison, 37, Great Falls, Mont., salesman.

Apprehension spread in Lincoln as the bloody toll mounted, but it was the wanton killing of Ward, president of the Capitol Steel Works, Mrs. Ward and their housekeeper, raising the count of Nebraska victims to nine, which set the city in its final frenzy.

all wet. Across the front page of the opposition paper we read that the missile base was a myth.

Instead of a flood of information from Rivers there hadn't even been a stream—just a trickle. This story told us no missile base was planned, no one would have to give up land—just a couple of surveyors from the U. S. Department of Interior getting a 25 cent map of the Pickaway county area. Being in the Interior Department, they should be on the inside.

Ohio Pastors Plead for End To Tests of Nuclear Bombs

COLUMBUS (AP)—A plea for an immediate end to nuclear bomb tests led a list of resolutions unanimously adopted by the Ohio Pastors' Convention as it ended its 39th annual convocation today.

More than 1,500 religious leaders attended the four-day meeting.

The resolutions were, for the most part, based on a wide-reaching declaration of social aims drawn up by the Ohio Council of Churches last fall and approved by the convention today.

In a briefly worded resolution

"SOVIET RUSSIA has not renounced as its hope and purpose the destruction of freedom everywhere. It is therefore necessary for us to deal with the forces of international communism from a position of strength."

"We must pursue what former British prime minister Winston Churchill once called a 'policy of defense through deterrence.'"

Also speaking Wednesday, Dr. Dale Oldham, pastor of the Park Place Church of God in Anderson, Ind., told the convention "it is sacrilegious for a minister to preach the living gospel as if he were selling shoestrings."

"The most effective preaching in times like these is being done by 'sons of God.' We need a power beyond our own, a wisdom and a saintliness beyond our own. Through a more intimate relationship to Christ we must find this."

Many Slippery Spots Reported in State

COLUMBUS (AP)—All Ohio highways are open but roads in many areas of the state are slippery due to light snow flurries, the Department of Highways reports.

Highways are slippery north and east of a line through Sandusky, Bucyrus, Millersburg and St. Clairsville. Slippery spots also were reported on highways in the following areas: Celina, Wakarusa, Bellefontaine, Springfield, Washington C. H. and New Lexington.

THE GIRL, in a state of shock after fleeing Starkweather's car before the final chase leading to his capture, was sheltered in the sheriff's living quarters on the second floor of the jail.

Two possible reasons for the wave of slayings came to light today.

At Lincoln, Neb., his father, Guy Starkweather, said "He is to lose his sight within a year," because of being hit on the head by a piece of lumber. The father said he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk."

County Atty. William Dixon at Douglas said a letter to Starkweather from Caril's mother was found in his pockets after his arrest. Dixon said the letter "had to do with Caril's mother's attitude towards Starkweather."

Caril's mother, Mrs. Velda Bartlett, 37, was one of the nine persons killed in Nebraska.

Sheriff Hefflin served papers on Starkweather in his cell today charging him with the Wyoming slaying of a Montana shoe salesman. The sheriff said he had a hand-written statement from Starkweather, a statement "about as long as a rope." He wouldn't discuss it further.

He said he planned to get a statement today from the girl.

TEEN-AGE KILLER CAUGHT — "I shot 'em all myself" bragged 19-year-old Charles Starkweather (shown with his 14-year-old girl friend Caril Ann Fugate) following the worst teen-age murder spree in the nation's history. The "hot-headed" youth, accused of killing 10 persons, including the young girl's mother, was shot and captured near Douglas, Wyo. The girl, who said she was held captive, was unharmed.

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—A young kill-crazy gunman sought in a wave of 10 savage slayings was run to earth Wednesday in the badlands of eastern Wyoming.

Charles Starkweather, 19, and his brunette girl friend, Caril Fugate, 14, were captured after nine persons in Nebraska and one in Wyoming had been slain in a three-day period.

The girl told officers she feared Starkweather, red-haired and wearing rimless glasses, would kill her.

"They wouldn't have caught me if I hadn't stopped," Starkweather snarled as officers hauled him to a jail cell. "If I'd had a gun, I'd have shot them."

Automobile glass shattered by bullets in the wild chase that led to Starkweather's capture nicked the gunman's ear.

Sheriff Earl Hefflin said: "It was his own blood that got him. He thought he was shot dead—he thought he was bleeding to death. That's the kind of yellow S.O.B. he is."

Nebraska Relaxing after Capture Of Youth Accused in 10 Murders

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Lincoln recoiled from shock and terror today after assurance that a mad slayer, who had snuffed out ten lives, was behind bars.

Ike Says Gov. O'Neill Follows 'Bad Example'

COLUMBUS (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a condolence message to Gov. C. William O'Neill, said he was distressed to learn that Ohio's Republican chief executive had "managed to follow my exceedingly bad example."

Gov. O'Neill was stricken a week ago with a heart attack. The President's letter, dated Jan. 28, was received today at O'Neill's statehouse office and forwarded to the governor's suburban Bexley mansion.

Port Is Now a 'Pot'

SEATTLE (AP)—High winds blew out the "R" in the big "Port of Seattle" sign atop the port headquarters during a storm.

blood, dandruff, bad breath, corns and an aching back, due to worry over adequate air defense.

Friday evening, we read in a Columbus newspaper these headlines: "Pickaway Co. Missile Base in Confirmed, Super-Secret Project Revealed By Rep. Rivers." One thousand acres of Pickaway county land was to be used and long-range surface-to-air Bomarc guided missiles would probably be used, giving air defense to the targets in this area.

After reading the story, we cut down our sleeping pills from 20 to 10 and enjoyed a good night's sleep.

Saturday evening, this Columbus paper printed five 2-col pictures of people and homes in the Circleville area that would be affected by the base and reported "Pickaway Folks Take Missile Base in Stride." There were tender words about leaving the old farm, a neighbor dropping in with a warm loaf of bread, etc. The standard comments of the Pickaway county

Fire Strikes Johnson Family Second Time within Month

The old saying that "bad luck comes in bunches" certainly was realized today by the Cecil Johnson family of near Williamsport.

The hardluck family suffered its second house fire within a month early this morning. The first fire was January 7 when the Johnsons lived on the Hayesville-Allegheny Road about six miles south of Circleville.

Today's ill-fated blaze started at about 7:50 a. m. Williamsport firemen said fire and water damage amounted to about $1,000 to the house and approximately $300 to contents. The house is owned by Charles Schlick.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by faulty electrical wiring. The fire started in an upstairs storage closet.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their eight children moved to the Williamsport area earlier this month after their first home was destroyed.

According to Warren Wright, Williamsport Fire Chief, a large quantity of clothing donated by area persons after the first fire was destroyed by the blaze.

The Williamsport Department dispatched a tanker and pumper to the scene. They battled the fire for about 45 minutes before bringing it under control. Damage was confined mostly to the upstairs.

Syria-Egypt Merger Gets Close Study

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syria's desperate-looking pursuit of union with Egypt promises new turmoil in the Middle East, but for the two countries it may also mean mutual self-protection.

There is much justification for speculation that the extremists of Syria hope and intend to rekindle the flames of pan-Arab nationalism in Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon.

The same consideration could be behind the apparent acceptance of the idea by Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. But there seems to be more to the picture than just that.

In reports from Damascus and Cairo, sketchy as they have been on the detailed plans for this union, there are many overtones of worry.

Union of Syria and Egypt, apart from its aim of electrifying the Arab East of nationalists and bringing heavier pressures against other Arab governments, also implies a measure of insurance both for Egypt and Syria against growing Communist influence.

By joining with Egypt, the Syrian regime indicates it is willing to abolish all its political parties and join Cairo in a monolithic "national union" which will govern the united countries. This would mean the Communists in Syria would have to forego their open political activity.

The Communists are outlawed in both Syria and Egypt, despite the involvement of the two regimes militarily and economically with the Communist bloc.

Deputies Unimpressed By Daring Log Race

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two daring young men on big logs staged a 10-mile race on the rain-swollen Eel River Wednesday while hundreds of curious watched.

The race had no winner.

Unsmiling deputy sheriffs ordered Eugene C. Smith, 18, and Clifford J. Bates, 26, ashore and charged them with disturbing the peace. They said the river was not even safe for a good-sized boat.

farmer was: "I hate to see this good farm land go."

Saturday night, we retired without taking a single sleeping pill. Instead of sleeping under a concrete block canopy in the basement, we repaired to our bedroom. We slept like a baby.

SUNDAY MORNING, we awakened and tossed our pajamas against the ceiling. A missile base near us! Air defense! We were overjoyed. Knowing many of the men on this Columbus paper that had given us the comforting and revealing stories we started shouting: "Long Live George Smalls-read! Long Live Jake Stahl! Long live Frank Maple! Curley Morrison! Johnny Jones! Gordon Gaardner! Dawson Ousley! Long live Mel Tharp!"

Sunday morning, we picked up our Sunday edition. Not a word about the missile base. But, alas and alac, alas and alas, in the opposition paper we found a story that flooded us. We found we really had slept like a baby—we were

Ohioan Convicted In Maine Assault

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Dana B. McKenney, 30, of McDonald, Ohio, was sentenced to 24 years in prison Wednesday after pleading guilty to assault on his wife, her uncle and her father.

The former Portland man had been working in an Ohio steel mill for two years. He came here to force his wife to talk to him after she left him in Ohio.

He said he had no intention of hurting anyone but that his mother-in-law would not allow the wife, Florence, to talk to him, so he entered their home late at night.

Mrs. McKenney awoke her father, Henry R. Smith, and the uncle, Stanwood Malloy, when she screamed. A struggle followed.

White told reporters "it should be abundantly clear" that the United States wants "to move toward a summit meeting under conditions which give promise of success."

2 Boys Confined
In Akron Slaying

AKRON (AP)—Juvenile Judge Russell W. Thomas Wednesday ordered two Akron youths, Carl D. Sebeny, 16, and Henry J. Eflund, 17, sent to the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster in connection with the death of Harrison B. Marting, 49.

Marting, son of former Mayor E. L. Marting, was struck in downtown Akron last Dec. 28, fell and hit his head on a curb. He died five days later. Testimony at a hearing was that Sebeny struck the victim and that his companion aided. The pair had been charged with delinquency.

Later, he shot down a prominent Lincoln business man; stabbed his wife and their 51-year-old housekeeper.

It was the tenth killing that broke the chain. A few minutes after he opened fire on a salesman napping in his car along a Wyoming highway he ran into Joe Sprinkle, tough Casper, Wyo., oil worker who wasn't afraid of the killer's rifle. Sprinkle stopped to investigate the stalled cars, appraised the situation and grappled for the rifle.

The killer got away, but by then law officers had arrived and he gave up after a short chase.

The victims slain in a 48-hour period:

Marion Bartlett, 57, Lincoln, Carl's stepfather; Velda Bartlett, 37, Lincoln, her mother; and Betty Jean Bartlett, not quite 3, their daughter.

August Meyer, 70, Bennet farmer; Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school student; and Carol King, 16, Bennet, Robert's girl friend.

C. Lauer Ward, 47, Lincoln business man; Clara Ward, 47, his wife; and Lillian Fencil, 51, the Ward's housekeeper.

Merle Collison, 37, Great Falls, Mont., salesman.

Apprehension spread in Lincoln as the bloody toll mounted, but it was the wanton killing of Ward, president of the Capitol Steel Works, Mrs. Ward and her housekeeper, raising the count of Nebraska victims to nine, which set the city in its final frenzy.

Gov. Victor Anderson ordered all wet. Across the front page of of the opposition paper we read that the missile base was a myth.

Instead of a flood of information from Rivers there hadn't even been a stream—just a trickle. This story told us no missile base was planned, no one would have to give up land—just a couple of surveyors from the U. S. Department of Interior getting a 25 cent map of the Pickaway county area. Being in the Interior Department, they should be on the inside.

U.S. Summit View Debated

European Pressure
Continues To Mount

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States faces mounting difficulties in holding to its position that a summit conference should be held only if there is advance proof it will be successful.

State Department officials are worried over reports from Western Europe that public opinion increasingly favors a top-level conference with Russian leaders on Soviet terms if it cannot be arranged on Western terms.

Officials report that there is so far no basic difference of view among Allied governments on their demand for careful preparation in advance of a top-level session. That preparation would have to afford proof that such a meeting can achieve agreements on important issues.

But public opinion in countries like Britain exerts a powerful pressure on government policies as it does here. This may make it difficult for the Allies to maintain a solid front on the matter.

Furthermore, the Soviets are expected to exploit to the limit the European interest in a meeting.

THE STATE Department has received a steady stream of reports this week from embassies abroad on European press reaction to comments made Sunday by White House news secretary James Hagerty.

Hagerty said in substance that the only thing necessary was to agree on an agenda. After the broadcast he specifically denied that he meant in any way to modify President Eisenhower's stated ambitions for a meeting.

Nevertheless, reports to the State Department show that his original remarks were interpreted as indicating a modification and in the last three days the department has been making public statements trying to knock down this idea. The latest came from press officer Lincoln White.

White told reporters "it should be abundantly clear" that the United States wants "to move toward a summit meeting under conditions which give promise of success."

Nebraska Relaxing after Capture Of Youth Accused in 10 Murders

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Lincoln recoiled from shock and terror today after assurance that a mad slayer, who had snuffed out ten lives, was behind bars.

But troubled officials fear more bodies could be found as they have been found at intervals since Monday.

Swaggering Charles Starkweather, 19, and his steady girl friend, Carl Fugate, 14, who have been charged with first-degree murder were jailed at Douglas, Wyo., Wednesday.

Striking by threes, the youth first killed Carl's family of three. Then in another foray discovered a day later, he killed a onetime hunting companion and two high school sweethearts.

Later, he shot down a prominent Lincoln business man;

TEEN-AGE KILLER CAUGHT — "I shot 'em all myself" bragged 19-year-old Charles Starkweather (shown with his 14-year-old girl friend Carl Fugate) following the worst teen-age murder spree in the nation's history. The "hot-headed" youth, accused of killing 10 persons, including the young girl's mother, was shot and captured near Douglas, Wyo. The girl, who said she was held captive, was unharmed.

Ohio Pastors Plead for End To Tests of Nuclear Bombs

COLUMBUS (AP)—A plea for an immediate end to nuclear bomb tests led a list of resolutions unanimously adopted by the Ohio Pastors' Convention as it ended its 39th annual convocation today.

More than 1,500 religious leaders attended the four-day meeting.

The resolutions were, for the most part, based on a wide-reaching declaration of social aims drawn up by the Ohio Council of Churches last fall and approved by the convention today.

In a briefly worded resolution covering nuclear bomb tests, the convention called on all nations "to agree to immediate cessation of nuclear bomb tests. The Atoms for Peace program should be strengthened. We are convinced that God desires that atomic energy be used to bless mankind."

Endorsement of the anti-nuclear test resolution came despite a claim by a former member of the National Security Council that Russia respects only strength.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan and a former member of the Security Council, had called on the United States to maintain its position of strength.

He said:

"SOVIET RUSSIA has not renounced as its hope and purpose the destruction of freedom everywhere. It is therefore necessary for us to deal with the forces of international communism from a position of strength."

"We must pursue what former British prime minister Winston Churchill once called a 'policy of defense through deterrence.'"

Also speaking Wednesday, Dr. Dale Oldham, pastor of the Park Place Church of God in Anderson, Ind., told the convention "it is sacrilegious for a minister to preach the living gospel as if he were selling shoestrings."

"The most effective preaching in times like these is being done by 'sons of God.' We need a power beyond our own, a wisdom and a saintliness beyond our own. Through a more intimate relationship to Christ we must find this."

Many Slippery Spots
Reported in State

COLUMBUS (AP)—All Ohio highways are open but roads in many areas of the state are slippery due to light snow flurries, the Department of Highways reports.

Highways are slippery north and east of a line through Sandusky, Bucyrus, Millersburg and St. Clairsville. Slippery spots also were reported on highways in the following areas: Celina, Wapakoneta, Bellefontaine, Springfield, Washington C. H. and New Lex.

First degree murder charges already were being filed against the pair in Nebraska.

Youth, 19, Accused of 10 Slayings

Girl Friend, 14, Flees
Boy's Car Just as Sheriff Closes In

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—A young kill-crazy gunman sought in a wave of 10 savage slayings was run to earth Wednesday in the badlands of eastern Wyoming.

Charles Starkweather, 19, and his brunette girl friend, Carl Fugate, 14, were captured after nine persons in Nebraska and one in Wyoming had been slain in a three-day period.

The girl told officers she feared Starkweather, red-haired and wearing rimless glasses, would kill her.

"They wouldn't have caught me if I hadn't stopped," Starkweather snarled as officers hauled him to a jail cell. "If I'd had a gun, I'd have shot them."

Automobile glass shattered by bullets in the wild chase that led to Starkweather's capture nicked the gunman's ear.

Sheriff Earl Heflin said: "It was his own blood that got him. He thought he was shot dead in hell when he saw that blood. He thought he was bleeding to death. That's the kind of yellow S.O.B. he is."

THE GIRL, in a state of shock after fleeing Starkweather's car before the final chase leading to his capture, was sheltered in the sheriff's living quarters on the second floor of the jail.

Two possible reasons for the wave of slayings came to light today.

At Lincoln, Neb., his father, Guy Starkweather, said "He is to lose his sight within a year," because of being hit on the head by a piece of lumber. The father said he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk."

County Atty. William Dixon at Douglas said a letter to Starkweather from Carl's mother was found in his pockets after his arrest. Dixon said the letter "had to do with Carl's mother's attitude towards Starkweather."

Carl's mother, Mrs. Velda Bartlett, 37, was one of the nine persons killed in Nebraska.

Sherriff Heflin served papers on Starkweather in his cell today charging him with the Wyoming slaying of a Montana shoe salesman. The sheriff said he had a hand-written statement from Starkweather, a statement "about as long as a rope." He wouldn't discuss it further.

He said he planned to get a statement today from the girl.

THE SQUAT, sharp-featured youth sullenly spent two hours Wednesday night writing a statement in his jail cell here.

County Atty. William P. Dixon said when Starkweather had finished that "we have everything we need now."

Dixon filed murder charges against Starkweather in the death of Merle Collison, 37-year-old shoe salesman from Great Falls, Mont. Collison was shot as he slept in his car near here. An autopsy disclosed nine bullet wounds from a .22-caliber rifle.

First degree murder charges already were being filed against the pair in Nebraska.

U.S.-Soviet Plan Studied

TV-Swap Agreement To Be Complicated

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The compromise agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to widen a variety of exchanges—including television and radio programs—has been complicated by the telecasting-broadcasting industry.

You probably will wait a long time before seeing or hearing any Soviet programs. Russians also apparently have a long wait.

This is not because of reluctance on the part of American industry. John Daly, vice president in charge of news and public affairs for the American Broadcasting Co., expressing approval of the idea and a desire to cooperate in it, emphasized the basic problem when he said: "In Russia broadcasting is a monolithic industry. In this country it's a free industry. Thus exchanges between the two raise substantial problems."

The Soviets can accept—or reject—whatever American programs are offered and guarantee to present those they accept on a specific number of their state-run stations. The United States can accept—or reject—Soviet programs. But because American stations are autonomous this country cannot guarantee that the programs will appear on a specified number of stations here.

An equally vital question involves what TV and radio programs might be offered the Soviet Union as representative of American life.

There exists a final technical problem. To dub Russian language onto American film is a costly undertaking. Who is going to pay for it? Maybe somebody in Washington knows, but you can't find anybody in New York who does.

This sounds negative. But there are such positive benefits to be gained from the exchange of ideas with the Russians that one hopes the problems can be overcome.

Stock Mart Prices Show Slight Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained narrowly higher early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The edge of an early advance by steel and selected issues was blunted considerably. Gains of leading stocks were mainly fractional. There was a scattering of losers.

The market was again just past the November recovery highs, an area where further progress has always been difficult because of the supply of stock available at these prices.

Strong prices for copper abroad helped shares of the industry. A cut in bankers acceptance rates was another sign of easier credit. But testimony in Washington by several economists that increased defense spending may not be enough to bring the economy out of its slump by mid-year was an item on the negative side.

U. S. Steel trimmed part of an early 1-point gain but continued in favor due to announcement of record yearly earnings. The second biggest steelmaker, Bethlehem, which reports on its '57 earnings today, was ahead a fraction at the start, then cancelled the gain. Youngstown Sheet and Lukens added fractions.

Chrysler also backed away slightly from an initial 1-point gain as the firing of its satellite-bearing Jupiter-C missile was still awaited. General Motors was firm and Ford eased.

Leading rails nudged ahead on average following their late rally of Wednesday.

U. S. government bonds were lower.

Winter Farm Show Idea Under Study

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state agriculture director, Dr. Jim Hay, today said he will not know for some time whether it would be practical to hold a winter farm show in Ohio, probably in February or March.

Dr. Hay wants to find out whether youth activities could be emphasized as much with young people in school during the winter as they are at the annual Ohio State Fair in the fall.

Hay said one problem would be finding enough heated exhibition space. He said the Fairgrounds' Buckeye Building, Coliseum and Youth Building are heated and the Dairy Cattle Building could be heated.

18 hours later. His wife, her hands tied behind her, and the housekeeper lay dead in separate bedrooms upstairs, both stabbed to death.

The Ward's 14-year-old son, Michael, was away at prep school in Connecticut.

In Lincoln the boy's father, Guy Starkweather, 47, a carpenter, said "I guess everybody can sleep tonight. I don't know whether I'll sleep though."

The elder Starkweather admitted he had feared for his own and his wife's safety.

"I don't think Charles would hesitate to shoot me," he said. "Charlie always had a burst of temper, but never anything like this."

"I have an idea he thinks he would be better off if they had killed him."

Guy Starkweather said he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk. It could have been a lot of things, and that girl (Caril) has him wrapped around her little finger. He is to lose his sight within a year, and he may still be sick from a recent cold."

Asked about his son's eyesight, Starkweather said Charles was hit on the forehead with a piece of lumber a few years ago.

Mrs. Pansy Street, Caril's grandmother, was the one whose concern for her family prompted the investigation that disclosed the first of the chain of slayings.

Mrs. Street, who shares a one-room apartment with an invalid son, declared Caril "just couldn't have killed her own mother and done all those other things."

"All she wanted was just to go to school and be a nurse, and granny was ready to help her make it. But now that money will have to go into coffins for Marion, Barbara (Caril's mother), and Betty Jean."

Downtown in Lincoln anger did not subside quickly. Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said he would try to have young Starkweather returned here for trial though the Wyoming killing gives that state a priority.

Mayor Bennett Martin said "we still don't know whether the number of victims (in Nebraska) will stop at nine."

'Old Gene Artery' Song Is Outlawed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Comedian Bozo St. Clair has been ordered not to sing about cowboy star Gene Autry's horse Champion.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham ordered St. Clair, night club owner Pete Lout and the Town Lounge to pay $250 damages to Autry and Western Music Publishing Co. because of a song recorded in 1953.

Autry's petition said St. Clair recorded a song entitled "Old Gene Artery" in 1953 and the record was sold at the Town Lounge. It said the song made use of profane language and infringed on the copyright of Autry's theme song, "Back in the Saddle Again." The judge's order specifically ordered that Champion's name not be used again.

Own Creation Used On Famous Inventor

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Before Dr. Lee De Forest, 84, the "father of radio," underwent removal of a bladder tumor, he asked what kind of surgical procedure would be used.

"Electrodissection," Dr. W. L. Marker told him.

"Commonly spoken of as a hot wire," De Forest commented. "I invented it in 1907."

Dr. Marker said the inventor is in good condition.

Following dinner, the girls sang a number of scout songs. Patricia Chelkowski introduced the troop committee: Mrs. Neil Abbott, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Francis Cook and Mrs. Lawrence

O'Neill Drive Plans Unaltered

GOP Chief Pledges
All-Out Effort in Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—Republican leaders appear ready to campaign with about the same plan they had before Gov. C. William O'Neill suffered a mild heart attack a week ago Wednesday.

Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss told newsmen in Washington Wednesday: "We're in the same position we were before his illness. He is going to file his nomination papers on Monday, and we'll wage an all-out campaign in his behalf for governor."

Bliss was in Washington for a private luncheon meeting with Ohio's 17-member Republican delegation in the House.

Doctors report the governor is recuperating as expected. Dr. Robert C. Kirk, in his Wednesday bulletin on O'Neill's condition said: "Everything is fine—better than might have been hoped for on the anniversary of his attack a week ago."

O'Neill's only possible opponent for the nomination, Alvin L. Spriggs of Mount Gilead, was in Columbus Wednesday, but he did not indicate whether he plans to file his petitions.

HE REPORTED he had enough signatures on his petitions to qualify as a candidate, however, and would announce his intentions Feb. 5.

Spriggs reported the final decision would come Saturday in Mount Gilead after a meeting with members of his committee, which includes 25 men. He said four financial backers have pledged $65,000 for a campaign.

Spriggs, who has no apparent contacts with Ohio Republican leaders, visited Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office where Brown quoted him saying: "I'd hate to file against a man who is sick."

Good Autos To Sell for 99 Cents Each

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A Flint used car dealer is selling four cars for 99 cents each and another four for $99 apiece Friday. The eight people who'll get them have been waiting in line since Tuesday.

The cars have been completely reconditioned and are in good shape. The 99-centers have a retail value of $250. The 99-dollar jobs are worth about $500.

It's first-come-first-served. You can't see your spot in line, you can't have a relief, and you get only 15-minute breaks.

First to show at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday was James Stewart, an unemployed factory worker.

The only woman in line is Mrs. Sandra Hollingshead, a mother of three, who was laid off from the General Motors A-C Sparkplug Division last week. "My husband thinks I'm nuts," she remarked.

Three students from the General Motors Institute, who have their school books with them to keep up with their classes, are utilizing fraternity pledges to bring them food.

They got scrambled eggs, toast and coffee in pup tents.

Stewart, who spent a year in Alaska, says the cold is the worst problem. Temperatures have been in the low 30s and despite hunting outfits and heavy bundling the nippy night wind is tough to buck.

.22 caliber rifle when he was surprised by another motorist standing by Collison's car. And he snarled that "if I'd had a gun I'd have shot them" (his captors).

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, Neb., Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele sent two officers by air to Douglas today.

Scheele said that "we are going to do our utmost to get him back here." Wyoming will have priority on prosecution if Dixon decides to press in the Collison killing.

There was no immediate statement on any possible charges against the Fugate girl.

Starkweather told officers he had forced her to go along with him on the wild ride that ended in Wyoming cattle country.

SHE HERSELF fled screaming from the car after Collison was shot and said that Starkweather was crazy and she feared for her own life.

Joe Sprinkle, 29-year-old oil company employe, tussled briefly with Starkweather along the road and wrenched a .22-caliber rifle from his hands. Starkweather had threatened him when he stopped to offer aid.

It was then that sheriff's men drove up and Starkweather bolted in the black sedan stolen at Lincoln.

Sheriff Earl Heflin gave chase, firing as the two cars roared down the highway and through Douglas. Outside of Douglas Starkweather stopped and gave up.

If he faces Wyoming justice and is convicted of first-degree murder, the penalty is the gas chamber. But Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson is strongly opposed to capital punishment and recently stated he would continue his policy of commutation.

In Nebraska, the death penalty is exacted in the electric chair if a defendant is found guilty of first-degree murder and the jury sets the penalty at death.

U.S.-Soviet Plan Studied

TV-Swap Agreement To Be Complicated

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The compromise agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to widen a variety of exchanges including television and radio programs for the telecasting-broadcasting industry.

You probably will wait a long time before seeing or hearing any Soviet programs. Russians also apparently have a long wait.

This is not because of reluctance on the part of American industry. John Daly, vice president in charge of news and public affairs for the American Broadcasting Co., expressing approval of the idea and a desire to cooperate in it, emphasized the basic problem when he said: "In Russia broadcasting is a monopolistic industry. In this country it's a free industry. Thus exchanges between the two raise substantial problems."

The Soviets can accept or reject whatever American programs are offered and guarantee to present those they accept on a specific number of their state-run stations. The United States can accept or reject Soviet programs. But because American stations are autonomous this country cannot guarantee that the programs will appear on a specified number of stations here.

An equally vital question involves what TV and radio programs might be offered the Soviet Union as representative of American life.

There exists a final technical problem. To dub Russian language onto American film is a costly undertaking. Who is going to pay for it? Maybe somebody in Washington knows, but you can't find anybody in New York who does.

This sounds negative. But there are such positive benefits to be gained from the exchange of ideas with the Russians that one hopes the problems can be overcome.

Stock Mart Prices Show Slight Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained narrowly higher early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The edge of an early advance by stocks and selected issues was blunted considerably. Gains of leading stocks were mainly fractional. There was a scattering of losers.

The market was again just past the November recovery highs, an area where further progress has always been difficult because of the supply of stock available at these prices.

Strong prices for copper abroad helped shares of the industry. A cut in bankers acceptance rates was another sign of easier credit. But testimony in Washington by several economists that increased defense spending may not be enough to bring the economy out of its slump by mid-year was an item on the negative side.

U. S. Steel trimmed part of an early 1-point gain but continued in favor due to announcement of record yearly earnings. The second biggest steelmaker, Bethlehem, which reports on its '57 earnings today, was ahead a fraction at the start, then cancelled the gain. Youngstown Sheet and Tube added fractions.

Chrysler also backed away slightly from an initial 1-point gain as the firing of its satellite-bearing Jupiter-C missile was still awaited. General Motors was firm and Ford eased.

Leading rails nudged ahead on average following their late rally of Wednesday.

U. S. government bonds were lower.

Winter Farm Show Idea Under Study

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state agriculture director, Dr. Jim Hay, today said he will not know for some time whether it would be practical to hold a winter farm show in Ohio, probably in February or March.

Dr. Hay wants to find out whether youth activities could be emphasized as much with young people in school during the winter as they are at the annual Ohio State Fair in the fall.

Hay said one problem would be finding enough heated exhibition space. He said the Fairgrounds' Buckeye Building, Coliseum and Youth Building are heated and the Dairy Cattle Building could be heated.

Nebraska

18 hours later. His wife, her hands tied behind her, and the housekeeper lay dead in separate bedrooms upstairs, both stabbed to death.

The Ward's 14-year-old son, Michael, was away at prep school in Connecticut.

In Lincoln the boy's father, Guy Starkweather, 47, a carpenter, said "I guess everybody can sleep tonight. I don't know whether I'll sleep though."

The elder Starkweather admitted he had feared for his own and his wife's safety.

"I don't think Charles would hesitate to shoot me," he said. "Charlie always had a burst of temper, but never anything like this."

"I have an idea he thinks he would be better off if they had killed him."

Guy Starkweather said he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk. It could have been a lot of things, and that girl (Caril) has him wrapped around her little finger. He is to lose his sight within a year, and he may still be sick from a recent cold."

Asked about his son's eyesight, Starkweather said Charles was hit on the forehead with a piece of lumber a few years ago.

Mrs. Pansy Street, Caril's grandmother, was the one whose concern for her family prompted the investigation that disclosed the first of the chain of slayings.

Mrs. Street, who shares a one-room apartment with an invalid son, declared Caril "just couldn't have killed her own mother and done all those other things."

"All she wanted was just to go to school and be a nurse, and granny was ready to help her make it. But now that money will have to go into coffins for Marion, Barbara (Caril's mother), and Betty Jean."

Downtown in Lincoln anger did not subside quickly. Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele said he would try to have young Starkweather returned here for trial though the Wyoming killing gives that state a priority.

Mayor Bennett Martin said "we still don't know whether the number of victims (in Nebraska) will stop at nine."

O'Neill's only possible opponent for the nomination, Alvin L. Spriggs of Mount Gilead, was in Columbus Wednesday, but he did not indicate whether he plans to file his petitions.

Secrecy Handcuff's Science

Britain's development of a method of "taming" hydrogen explosions to contain the release of energy and use it for non-explosive purposes is an outstanding scientific achievement. It may be of great benefit to humanity if it will bring nuclear energy use for non-military purposes closer to an economic possibility.

A strange aspect is the reported insistence by officials of the United States Atomic Energy Commission that the British development be kept secret. There has been no official statement by AEC officials, which may indicate there is some basis for the British claim that the U.S. did not want the device revealed because of jealousy over British accomplishments.

This seems to be a new example of the current system of secrecy which so throttles and bottles up progress in the field of peaceful development of nuclear energy.

The Atomic Energy Commission has made it so difficult for industry and scientists to learn what they need to know that development has lagged seriously.

There are a few basic secrets in American defense procedures. These should be carefully guarded. But to place every new scientific advance in this category is foolish. Scientist after scientist has pointed out that there can be no secrecy in general technical development of new ideas.

There appears to be needed a complete re-thinking on matters of secrecy and security in Washington. The Moss Committee of the House has pointed the way to the opening of many closed doors in the government. But it is about time for the executive department to concern itself with this matter and begin a wholesale changeover to a "government in a goldfish bowl" attitude.

Moviegoers Show Horse Sense

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (U)—Is the mental age of the average movie fan only 14 years?

This has long been the privately held but rarely spoken view of some members of the motion picture industry.

It isn't shared by David Lean, British director of "The Bridge on the River Kwai," who is an odds-on favorite to win an Oscar this year.

"If we lack a larger adult audience," he remarked quietly, "it merely shows we need to make more adult films."

"When it comes to judging the truth and sincerity of a movie, I have a great respect for the verdict of the audience. That is one of the wonderful things about an audience — it has a mass horse sense.

"If they laugh at the wrong place in a movie, nine times out of ten those who made the movie are wrong and the audience is right."

"An individual, even an individual who makes a movie, may lack horse sense. But a large group usually has it."

Although at 49, Lean has been 30 years in the industry he has directed only a dozen films.

All his work bears the stamp of patient craftsmanship and he likes to take his time about it. He spent a full year studying and polishing the script for "Bridge on the River Kwai," another six months shooting and cutting it.

Lean is an admirer of producers Mike Todd and Sam Goldwyn because he feels they are great gamblers.

"The movie world will die if it doesn't have gamblers," he said. "There are no guarantees in it, and if you want to play life safe, you'd better go into another business."

"The big pictures are always big gambles. If you succeed, everyone says, 'Well, how could he miss?' But if you fail, they say, 'After all, what a crazy idea!'"

Capitalists Can't Defend

By George Sokolsky

The new chemistry, electronics, nuclear physics, the reduction of time and space have changed our world. Never before in history have men seen so much happen in so short a time — so much that is fundamental.

Many do not have either the knowledge or the understanding to grasp the vast social and economic changes that are the inevitable results of new commodities replacing traditional ones.

The dislocation of cotton, wool, silk, rubber, hemp, by fabrics made in the chemist's test tubes as a result of our greater knowledge of the molecule and its combinations is bound to influence the ways of life of millions of human beings.

Electronics and nuclear physics are only on the verge of being related to everyday life. One day, we shall not only hear the beep of the Sputnik but we shall use neither coal nor water nor petroleum for light, heat and power. One day, it will be possible to slip an atomic pellet into a device to run an automobile or a railroad train or a steel plant or anything. Or we may even be able to use an instrument that will catch and use the rays of the sun to store power as an oak stores life.

We are about to witness the total elimination of space, for if a Sputnik can orbit the earth, there are no limits to what may be done by power and speed and human imagination.

And to all this and more, the social order must respond if man is to survive these changes. For instance, we now know that war is devastating beyond any targets that may be set. That means that the instruments of war are such that their use cannot be limited to the intentions of those who use them. The fall-out of a hydrogen bomb does not take place on the day the bomb is shot.

Radio-active strontium, a killer, may remain in the atmosphere for many years and may come down in drops of rain not upon the enemy but anywhere, even upon him who shot the bomb and it could so devastate his soil as to turn rich lands into a desert and it could destroy the bones of all animals of the field and of man.

Who dares to use such an instrument of war until a way is found to harness its destructiveness in time and space? And who dares to use many other devices of destruction which, once we discovered the secrets of the alchemists, are now limitless in their combinations by either fission or fusion?

In terms of the social order, the mechanical era has reached its apogee in automation which would, if carried forward logically, make it wholly unnecessary to employ human labor for most tasks of production and distribution. The first results we are beginning to witness in the proletarianization of the middle class which is occurring in many parts of the world. In fact, in much of the world, the middle class has already disappeared; only the rulers exist and the ruled.

The elimination of the middle class alters the nature of our society altogether. It makes the manager of a plant an employee and the owner of its capital so remote from a business as to have no direct interest in it but to be concerned only with the net returns on an investment, the shares to be bought and sold without an emotion, for wherein does 4 per cent here differ from 4 per cent there?

In fact, so remote does ownership become that there is actually no difference as to whether an enterprise is privately owned or publicly owned, which explains why even in the United States there is no effective organ left to defend the capitalist system per se.

Those who speak up for what they call "private enterprise" generally have foggy notions as to what they believe; they are only too often of the managerial class who own no enterprise themselves and would rather split the spoils with such a one as Walter Reuther than suffer the wrath of the stockholders should the 4 per cent not be forthcoming over a principle. Few are willing to die for a principle these days or even to risk losing a job.

It is a new era which needs to be studied closely as its moves along its destiny to fulfill.

HERE ARE TWO wise bits of advice from Bernard Baruch, one of the most successful of all speculators:

1. If you are holding a lot of stocks, and the market slips into a persistent decline, "sell to the sleeping point." That is, sell enough stocks so that you no longer will be tossing about in bed worrying, no matter how far down the market may go. "When we are worried," counsels Baruch, "it is because our subconscious mind is trying to telegraph us some message of warning."

2. It may be wise to periodically turn into cash most of your speculative holdings and virtually retire from the market for a while. This enables you to get a fresh, objective outlook on the general conditions. "No general," concludes Baruch, "keeps his troops fighting all the time, nor does he go into battle without some part of his forces held back in reserve."

Color Is Health Factor

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Color plays a very important part in our lives.

While I am a doctor, not an interior decorator, I'd like to pass on a little advice about the colors used in your home and office, since they have a direct bearing on your well-being.

Science has proven that we react differently to different colors. Mail-order statistics, for example, show that colored advertisements outpull black and white ads by an average of ten to one. In fact, the New York State Tax Division increased its collections by enclosing angry-red self-return envelopes with its tax forms.

In the paper industry, one New England firm produces two lines of colored stock named "Influence Bond" and "Impulse Bond."

The "Influence" papers are a soft, tactful blend of gray with green, tan and blue. The "Impulse" papers—designed to inspire immediate action—are flame red, bright turquoise, yellow, pumpkin, lime green and clear green.

We know that we humans have a decided muscular reaction to color and light.

Red colors, such as those used by the tax agency, tend to increase muscle tension and speed up the pulse and breathing. Bright illumination does the same thing.

Blue colors and dim lighting, on the other hand, relax the muscles and slow down the heart and lungs. It seems to me that blue colors and dim lights are best for the home, especially for the bedrooms.

For your office, a warm, neutral oak tint probably is most suitable for desk tops. The violent contrast between brilliant white paper and a dark top is tiring to the eyes. The oak tint provides a moderate contrast. It is much more restful.

You probably wouldn't think that the color of a baby carriage would make much difference to a baby. But it does.

Black and gray buggies are usually warm in the winter. But, according to a Better Vision Institute report, they become "hot-boxes" in the summer.

Another summer tip — mosquitoes apparently prefer to alight on dark blue, red and brown clothing. They are likely to shun white, orange and yellow.

So you see color affects our finances, our comfort — even our health.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (U)—Life would be simpler and maybe safer if nations of people could act like individual people. For instance: in visiting one another.

This week the United States and the Soviet Union signed an agreement for exchanging visitors — delegations from industry, agriculture, the arts, and so on—but it took effort ever since 1955 to get around to it.

The idea started that year at the summit conference in Geneva. Some visits were exchanged. But in the fall of 1956 the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt and this country on Dec. 3, 1956, called a halt to the exchange program.

State Department officials representing President Eisenhower as believing the program should not be resumed until the Soviet Union showed it believes in the right of neighboring countries to coexist under governments of their own choosing.

The Soviets haven't demonstrated any such thing but nevertheless, the new exchange program was agreed to this week. In fact on April 12, 1957, the Eisenhower administration tentatively agreed to resume the program.

During this time some small exchanges were taking place. But the idea got a boost—or a needle—on June 2, 1957, when Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party boss, appeared on millions of American TV screens in a filmed interview made by the Columbia Broadcasting System the previous month.

Among other things Khrushchev called for wider exchange of cultural delegations. At his news conference June 5 Eisenhower rather brushed aside the Khrushchev performance.

But the Soviets followed up. On June 6 they sent their ambassador to Washington, Georgi N. Zarubin, to the State Department. He spent more than two hours there, urging expansion of cultural exchanges.

On June 24 this government urged the U.S.S.R. to allow Soviet and American leaders to speak directly to each other's people in a series of uncensored radio and TV programs.

The State Department, in making this offer, acknowledged the timing was influenced partly by Khrushchev's appearance on TV here. The Soviets on July 26 proposed a conference with this country to get agreement on exchanges.

On Aug. 16 this government said it was willing to talk. On Oct. 28 Zarubin walked into the State Department with 52 proposals.

The two main American suggestions turned out to be these: agreement by Moscow to stop jamming voice of American broadcasts in Russian, and regular exchange of uncensored radio-TV comments on world events.

The negotiations, which started with Zarubin's visit last October, agreement signed Monday. The United States didn't get its two main requests. The Soviets didn't get all they wanted either.

For example: the Soviets, who have jet airliners, wanted direct Moscow-New York air service, which would probably mean Soviet jets landing in this country twice a week. The Soviet proposal wasn't turned down flatly.

This country may agree to this when it has jet airliners in operation too.

Letter To The Editor

The Circleville Herald encourages letters to the editor on pertinent subjects of local interest. Only signed letters will be used.

Editor:

This article is about taxes. You have heard about taxes, haven't you, Mr. Editor?

Some wise man, once said, "The power to tax is the power to destroy." Is that what the tax making powers of this county are trying to do?

My taxes on this month's duplicate were almost doubled (I am a small taxpayer). Every one of my neighbors complained to me. Everyone I talked to, told the same story.

I tried to find out who sponsored this increase and for what purpose. I was told the County Commissioners had hired an outside firm of appraisers, and gave them carte blanche (as the French say) to estimate the value of our property.

How could they know what our homes were worth? They sat in their cars most of the time and read magazines. Occasionally they walked around and looked us over, not trying to do their job, but to put in their time.

The only fair way to estimate a piece of real estate for taxation purposes is to have it done by local appraisers who know what the value is. If taxes had been raised 10 per cent, 25 per cent — we would not have liked it, but could have stood it. But they were raised 60 to 100 per cent.

Mine were raised about 80 per cent. Now if a man is employed and makes $15 to $20 a day he can stand it, but to a man (or woman) on a fixed income, it is murder!

You have heard of a "fixed income" haven't you Mr. Editor? Living on Social Security, retirement pay or veterans pension, these men cannot arbitrarily get a raise. All they get is the brush off — not even a promise.

I'll venture to say, that when "Mr. Taxer" heard every one was getting a raise but him, that he appeared before the Board (The Bored?) and demanded his share and then the Board (The Bored?) said, "Why sure Mr. 'Taxer' we will give you a big raise" and they doubled his "take". Whoever is to blame for this, we taxpayers don't know, but we aim to find out. If it is an elected official, he had better start looking for a job, for we are going to strike back through the ballot box.

Is this Russia, or is this America, that we fought three wars (in my lifetime) to make safe for democracy? If you publish this Mr. Editor, I will be grateful.

If this sort of "gouging" keeps up I am going to put an ad in your paper, that reads like this: "Busted taxpayer, wants job — Have shirt, will travel."

William J. Miller

excessively. What can be causing it?

Answer: This may be due to a hidden infection in your child's nose, throat or tonsils. However, most often it is due to dressing the child too warm or keeping the child's room too warm.

Secrecy Handcuff's Science

Britain's development of a method of "taming" hydrogen explosions to contain the release of energy and use it for non-explosive purposes is an outstanding scientific achievement. It may be of great benefit to humanity if it will bring nuclear energy use for non-military purposes closer to an economic possibility.

A strange aspect is the reported insistence by officials of the United States Atomic Energy Commission that the British development be kept secret. There has been no official statement by AEC officials, which may indicate there is some basis for the British claim that the U.S. did not want the device revealed because of jealousy over British accomplishments.

This seems to be a new example of the current system of secrecy which so throttles and bottles up progress in the field of peaceful development of nuclear energy.

The Atomic Energy Commission has made it so difficult for industry and scientists to learn what they need to know that development has lagged seriously.

There are a few basic secrets in American defense procedures. These should be carefully guarded. But to place every new scientific advance in this category is foolish. Scientist after scientist has pointed out that there can be no secrecy in general technical development of new ideas.

There appears to be needed a complete re-thinking on matters of secrecy and security in Washington. The Moss Committee of the House has pointed the way to the opening of many closed doors in the government. But it is about time for the executive department to concern itself with this matter and begin a wholesale changeover to a "government in a goldfish bowl" attitude.

I tried to find out who sponsored this increase and for what purpose. I was told the County Commissioners had hired an outside firm of appraisers, and gave them carte blanche (as the French say) to estimate the value of our property.

How could they know what our homes were worth? They sat in their cars most of the time and read magazines. Occasionally they walked around and looked us over, not trying to do their job, but to put in their time.

The only fair way to estimate a piece of real estate for taxation purposes is to have it done by local appraisers who know what the value is. If taxes had been raised 10 per cent, 25 per cent — we would not have liked it, but could have stood it. But they were raised 60 to 100 per cent.

Mine were raised about 80 per cent. Now if a man is employed and makes $15 to $20 a day he can stand it, but to a man (or woman) on a fixed income, it is murder!

You have heard of a "fixed income" haven't you Mr. Editor? Living on Social Security, retirement pay or veterans pension, these men cannot arbitrarily get a raise. All they get is the brush off — not even a promise.

I'll venture to say, that when "Mr. Taxer" heard every one was getting a raise but him, that he appeared before the Board (The Bored?) and demanded his share and then the Board (The Bored?) said, "Why sure Mr. 'Taxer' we will give you a big raise" and they doubled his "take". Whoever is to blame for this, we taxpayers don't know, but we aim to find out. If it is an elected official, he had better start looking for a job, for we are going to strike back through the ballot box.

Is this Russia, or is this America, that we fought three wars (in my lifetime) to make safe for democracy? If you publish this Mr. Editor, I will be grateful.

If this sort of "gouging" keeps up I am going to put an ad in your paper, that reads like this "Busted taxpayer, wants job — Have shirt, will travel."

Answer: This may be due to a hidden infection in your child's nose, throat or tonsils. However, most often it is due to dressing the child too warm or keeping the child's room too warm.

Figured To Be Star--She Is! Kathy Barr, Ex-Math Wizard,

By JAMES FLOWERS
Central Press Association
Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Somehow you visualize a mathematics whiz as dull and uninteresting, but after looking at and listening to Kathy Barr, a dazzling, red-haired singer, you know it just doesn't figure. For Kathy was majoring in math and ancient history at City College of New York about nine years ago when a movie talent scout heard her sing—quite by accident. He had gone to Kathy's music teacher to audition another pupil, but wound up listening to Kathy instead.

The scout brought Kathy to the attention of his studio's bigwig, Louis B. Mayer, who was in New York on business. Mayer looked over his cigar at the pretty-carrot-topped youngster and asked her if she could sing. "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

"Yes, I can," piped the pert math student, "if you'll put out that cigar. The smoke hurts my voice."

Mayer ground out the cigar and listened. When she finished he signed her on the spot. The audition ended Kathy's college days and launched her on a remarkable show business career that has delighted theater, night club and light opera audiences throughout the country and abroad.

KATHY IS a coloratura soprano with a fabulous range of three and one-half octaves. She can sing in an operatic soprano or she can do popular ballads with a soft, husky, sexy voice. This talent of dropping from a very high to a low register gives her voice a unique style and quality.

"I like to give a modern interpretation of the old standards," says the green-eyed singer. "When I sing those tunes it's the 'pure me.' I try to do them as if they were written yesterday."

On the operatic side, Kathy is

Nine Men Fined $200 Each in Gambling Case

CANTON (P)—Fines of $200 each are levied against nine men arrested in a gambling raid carried out by a "flying squad" of state liquor agents.

The eight pleaded guilty to charges of displaying gambling devices when arraigned Wednesday.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was filed against Joseph Castronovo of Canton by Police Chief Donald Hoover in Massillon.

Until 1940, Wichita, Kansas got most of its water supply from the Arkansas River underflow. Then they began to drill wells 30 miles north of the city.

currently recording "Desert Song" with George Tozzi, a leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, and Lehman Engel conducting. It's scheduled for release early this year.

Of Turkish ancestry, Kathy was born in Manhattan, the only child of Tess and George Aboulafia. Christened Marilyn Sultana, she took her professional name from her grandmother when she decided on a singing career.

Kathy's family was non-professional, but musically inclined. From an early age she has studied singing, counterpoint, violin and piano. At 24 the peppy redhead is a veteran entertainer.

Within a week after Mayer dunked his cigar, Kathy, chaperoned by her mother, stepped off the Super Chief in Hollywood, clutching a starlet's contract. Then, of all things, it was back to studying—poise, diction, acting, dancing and singing on the studio lot in Culver City.

Kathy excelled in all departments, but was too much like Kathryn Grayson, then the studio's front runner, to be given a chance. Kathy wangled out of her contract and left to appear in the ingenue lead of the road company of "The Red Mill" for Paula Stone.

This led to a six-month engagement in "Marinka," the musical version of "Mayerling," which brought Kathy to the Winter Garden theater in New York and an Australian tour in the same starring role.

RETURNING home, Kathy was a headliner at such top night clubs as the Latin Quarter in New York, the Desert Inn in Las Vegas and the Chez Paree in Chicago. She appeared with Jimmy Durante at the Chez Paree, and he sort of took her under his wing. "I learned a great deal from Jimmy about poise, lighting and timing," said Kathy. "He was wonderful to me. Another person that helped me a lot was Sammy Davis, Jr."

In light opera, Kathy has appeared in such productions as "The Chocolate Soldier," "Naughty Marietta," "The Wizard of Oz," "Good News," "Rio Rita" and "The Vagabond King. In fact, she has 122 performances to her credit.

She had to be dressed down for her "Wizard of Oz" role because she was too sexy for the character. Well put together, 38-25-37, she stands 5 feet 4 inches and weighs 116.

With such a busy schedule Kathy has little time for hobbies. But she does like to cook. "I'm good, too," she says proudly, "especially on Turkish dishes."

At present there's no guy in Kathy's life, but—"If I fell in love I'd get married tomorrow," she says. "Of course he'd have to be understanding about my traveling for a while. Then I want four children—all girls."

That's a mathematical mind for you—pure logic!

Warden Loses Eye, Is Cited After Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Ralph Alvis, warden of Ohio Penitentiary, is in satisfactory condition here after losing his right eye in an automobile accident Wednesday.

Solly Hart, a Cleveland murderer who has been warden's chauffeur for most of his 19 years in the penitentiary, is in critical condition with chest, back and internal injuries.

Police cited Alvis for passing left of center within 100 feet of an intersection. They reported he attempted to pass a truck driven by George O. Rudolph, 36, of Columbus. The truck turned left at an intersection, crashing into Alvis' private automobile.

Hart, convicted of the slaying of Roy (Happy) Marino in Mahoning County, is one of almost 5,000 inmates at the penitentiary where

Awaiting Out in Space: Marching Squirrels?

NEW YORK (P)—An Air Force scientist says men may find outer space crawling with these mental hazards: Marchin squirrels, tiny rocket ships that fire pellets, and little men who swing on space ship instruments.

Reporting today to a meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical

Sciences, experimental psychologist George T. Hauty told of three pre-space flight experiments.

One of these was conducted by McGill University scientists of Montreal, Canada. They wanted to find out what happened when you shut off sights, sounds and other sense stimuli. They closed male volunteers in cubicles for 48 hours.

Soon one subject reported: "A procession of squirrels with sacks over their shoulders marching purposefully across a snowfield..."

Another said he saw a miniature rocket ship shooting pellets at his arm.

In addition to having hallucinations, the volunteers became irritable and were unable to concentrate on complex ideas.

The volunteers were amused by the visions at first, but later complained that they interfered with their sleep.

Researchers made the experiments to determine if there is a background activity as well as normal sensory activity in the brain.

In another experiment, Hauty and R. Payne confined 30 volunteers in cockpits and put them to work for 30 consecutive hours. They had to regulate and control certain occurrences using dials and buttons on instrument panels.

While allowed 20-minute breaks at mealtimes, they were not permitted to sleep.

Much to the surprise of researchers, the subjects reported hallucinations and illusions.

Some were simple and poorly defined—for instance: "the instrument panel kept melting and dripping to the floor."

Other subjects reported well-organized phenomena such as: "On several occasions, the instrument showed a hippopotamus smiling at me."

Another said he spent a good deal of time brushing away little men who kept swinging on the air speed indicator and preventing him from reading it.

TALL STORY

By SUSAN BARDEN
King Features Syndicate
How tall is Tall?
Well, for the American woman it is five feet seven or higher.
To the majority of us in the great leveling class of "average," these rarer heights always seem enviable, suggesting a willowy figure that would be just right for the modeling profession.
It's absolutely true that the taller girl has quite a few advantages over her shorter sister. But one of them is certainly not the ability to go right into a shop and pick a dress that will fit her like those easily selected by the medium groups.

For this reason, these woolknits, which were designed especially for taller girls, are particularly welcome news for the ladies who belong in that category.
Each costume has taken into consideration the longer skirt length, as well as longer sleeve and waist lengths. In some cases a short waist and extra long legs complicates the fitting problem, and this is also solved in these attractive clothes because of an elasticized waistband that is adjustable to the figure.

At the close of the meeting a prayer was given by the host. Refreshments were then served by

Results with Ceramics Topic for Homemaker Club

"Procedures and Results with Ceramics" was the topic for the Darby Homemaker Club when it met in the home of Mrs. Delmar Ashcraft, Harrisburg Road, Wednesday.

"Hospitality with Food" was discussed for the morning feature. Varying and economical ways were presented for entertaining for different occasions. Emphasis was placed on the do-it-yourself method using materials and equipment at home or easily secured.

After the luncheon break, procedures and results with ceramics were given practical attention. Ceramics is skill with clay, the pliable kind of soil that yields readily to ingenuity and produces useful articles.

Those present were Mrs. D. J. Conley, Mrs. Raleigh Conley, Mrs. Bruce Ridgway, Mrs. Don C. Roush Jr., Mrs. Lewis Gantz, Mrs. Edward Spires and son, Mrs. Leonard Liff, Mrs. Leora Sayre, county agent; Mrs. Earl Liff, club councilor and Mrs. Ashcraft, club government.

The next meeting will be February 26 at the Derby Lodge Hall. The project will be metal tray etching and a review of the county government.

Mrs. Hedges Hosts Conservation Unit

A panel discussion will be held when the Child Conservation League meets at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. W. Hedges, 980 N. Court St.

Mrs. George Roth will present the program. All members are asked to turn in their money from the ticket sales of the benefit dessert bridge to be held at 8 p. m. February 12 in the Elks Club.

Adding a large amount of liquid to browned meat or poultry, when it's ready to be braised, will wash the brown away. Add a little liquid at a time.

TALL STORY

By SUSAN BARDEN
King Features Syndicate
How tall is Tall?
Well, for the American woman it is five feet seven or higher.
To the majority of us in the great leveling class of "average," these rarer heights always seem enviable, suggesting a willowy figure that would be just right for the modeling profession.
It's absolutely true that the taller girl has quite a few advantages over her shorter sister. But one of them is certainly not the ability to go right into a shop and pick a dress that will fit her like those easily selected by the medium groups.

For this reason, these woolknits, which were designed especially for taller girls, are particularly welcome news for the ladies who belong in that category.
Each costume has taken into consideration the longer skirt length, as well as longer sleeve and waist lengths. In some cases a short waist and extra long legs complicates the fitting problem, and this is also solved in these attractive clothes because of an elasticized waistband that is adjustable to the figure.

HERE A SLIM sleeveless sheath is topped with its own open cardigan jacket. A perfect choice for daytime or afternoon.

Projects Discussed By Willing Workers

Projects for the coming year were discussed when the Willing Workers Class of the Church of the Brethren, met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McNeal, Tarlton.
Miss Phyllis Cupp gave the opening prayer. Miss Virginia Anderson presided over the business.
Different projects for the coming year was the topic for discussion.
Miss Mahala Davis presented the program, "Prayer and How to Pray." Her Bible study was taken from the book of Psalms, chapter 27 and 30.
At the close of the meeting a prayer was given by the host. Refreshments were then served by

Little Fur Gems

HERE'S A REALLY magnificent blended Russian sable capelet.

BLACK RUSSIAN broadtail is used for this smart short jacket.

By SUSAN BARDEN
(King Features Syndicate)

If Santa Claus was really good to you in the form of a nice fat check, you'll probably be planning a grand shopping spree for just the items of attire for which you've been secretly pining.

And if you are the type who finds furs at the top of your list of glamorous garb, you'll dote on those little gems that are so elegantly done in luxurious skins. All three of those shown here were designed by our own American couturiere, Adele Simpson.

One of them is a dramatic fox stole. It features a flattering circle of the fur that flows into brief sleeves to keep it on the shoulders. Though it is shown with a formal evening gown, it is equally impressive with afternoon and dinner dresses.

Another happy selection might be the beautifully blended Russian sable capelet which was particularly created with the small woman in mind but would be just as charming on almost any type of figure. In this style, the fur is manipulated in a rounded line.

A third beauty is a black dyed Russian broadtail jacket. This quietly elegant little fur is treated like fabric, with dressmaker touches in the back shirring under the collar.

The Circleville Herald, Thursday, Jan. 30, 1958 7
Circleville, Ohio

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: John is 25 and I am 23. He has been married, I haven't. We've been going together for 18 months. His former wife Pat and I work for the same company. I had been dating John for several months prior to my employment there; and until then, didn't know Pat worked there.

It wasn't long before we discovered each other and I was a bit uneasy at first, but find her a very nice girl (my age). Now we know each other well, but I keep our friendship on a casual basis, which I think best.

Pat and John have been divorced two years and have a daughter, 4, whom he visits every week. He insists that I go along, and at first I was happy to, as I enjoy the child so much. But recently during these visits John has been trying to engage Pat in reminiscences—which she cuts off, while I sit by, embarrassed.

Also, last time he kissed the child goodbye, he turned to Pat and asked if she had a kiss for him, too. They both laughed. Pat and Missy walked with us to our car, and as we drove off John called "Goodbye, girls; sleep tight and be sweet."

Similar incidents have been remarked to me by friends, who meant no harm. These things hurt; and though I am careful to hide my distress from others, I have protested to John. But he gets angry and says I am silly and jealous.

Pat of her own accord has mentioned it, too, and says it embarrasses her; but she can't be ugly or unfriendly for fear he might cut down the visits and fall behind in his support payments. And she needs the money to help at home.

John has proposed marriage, but hasn't pressed it. I honestly believe he loves me, but I am a bit cautious about making plans—because I had a serious disappointment in love before, that ended in a broken engagement and a nervous breakdown. After that I dated many men before John, whom I truly love and almost worship.

Pat tells me she wouldn't consider marrying John again, as marriage for them would never work out; and that she has no feeling for him at all. Can you advise me?

B. D.

DEAR B.D.: I think you have grounds for mistrust. John may need you in his life at this time; and may feel your answering need of his attentions, too. And he may misconstrue this dependency upon you to be love of you. But as I see the picture, he doesn't love you—he just loves himself, in the dating alliance.

No doubt he finds you a congenial attractive prop to his ego; and a source of emotional reassurance in his mixed-up situation—of being divorced from his wife and unwanted by her, yet still involved in her personal life. But again I say, that's not love of you.

Further, I suspect that he insists (or did at first) upon taking you along to see his daughter, mostly as a goat-getting thrust at Pat—to make her jealous, if he could. Why else?

It is bad form on John's part to take his sweetheart along, to his former wife's home for "shared custody" visits with their child. Also it must be disturbing to the child, an interference with real closeness between father and daughter, during the visits—hence,

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ham and chicken get the feature treatment, with larger type and smaller prices, in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week.

Ham and other varieties of pork are expected to be somewhat cheaper in the months ahead. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says hog producers plan a 6 per cent increase over last year in 1958 spring farrowings. This should result in a crop of 56 million pigs, or 6 per cent more than a year ago.

Output of chicken also is expected to top 1957, when a record 1,400,000,000 birds were sent to market.

Prices for sirloin steak and rib roast are reported two to six cents a pound higher this week, which accounts for the scarcity of beef offerings in the stores. Those that are featuring beef have selected chuck roast, an old standby of the bargain hunter.

Hamburger, once regarded as a low price regular, is selling in the higher brackets these days.

Potatoes rank as the best buy among vegetables, although onions also are a good bet. Carrots in plastic bags are a little lower this week and should be a good buy.

Lettuce, though trending higher, still is rated a good buy.

Canned and frozen peas are in the bargain class as processors strive to unload big inventories from last year's crop.

Make some good stock out of giblets, wing and necks of chicken, adding onion, carrot, celery, parsley, bay leaf, peppercorns, allspice and salt. Strain the stock and mix with tomato juice, adding more salt and pepper if needed, and a suspicion of sugar. Serve very hot in cups.

Book Helps Insomniac Be A Sleeping Beauty

By JEANNE D'ARCY

It's a sad commentary on our life and times, but the truth of the matter is, we live in an age when "relaxing" is a lost art. All too many people seem never to have heard the word.

What's the cause?

On a large scale, it's the tension of our outer-space, atomic century. On a smaller scale, tension's caused by job pressures and everyday irritations. But, whatever the reason, tension leaves people irritable, quick to temper and terribly tired.

From a beauty standpoint, it's a calamity. A tense face isn't a pretty one. Lips are thin and tight, eyes look grim. Anyway, who can be charming with a Dracula disposition?

If the symptoms have a familiar ring, if you've been losing sleep, taking ugly pills, then run, don't walk, to the nearest bookshop and pick up a copy of "Teach Yourself to Relax" by Dr. Josephine L. Rathbone (Prentice Hall, $4.95). The good doctor, an instructor in relaxation at Columbia University, offers 206 pages of good advice that will keep you from losing sleep.

Insomnia is, of course, just one symptom of tenseness. But it's a common one and Dr. Rathbone has plenty of say about it.

If you "never shut an eye all night," it's for sure you have a hard time getting up in the morning.

SHE'S A NIGHT OWL, an insomniac. She needs an alarm that goes off three times at 10-minute intervals to rouse her mornings.

ing, but there's a special alarm clock for you. It goes off not once, but three times at ten-minute intervals. Of course, Dr. Rathbone has a few ideas about getting proper rest. One or another of them, might work for you.

First, there's the business of getting ready to sleep. Use the half hour before bedtime for a pleasant pursuit—playing a game of Chinese checkers or writing a friendly letter.

Don't rush into bed. Go at it in slow motion. Take your time. Get clothes ready for the next day. Have a leisurely bath. If you find a glass of hot milk sleep-inducing by all means have one.

Banish your problems. Don't think about them when you're trying to sleep. Instead, divert your mind by concentrating on frivolous topics. Or try to remember all the details of your fifth birthday party, or a poem you learned in school. Sleep will overtake you before the party or the poem have been completely thought out.

Dress comfortably. Be sure the weight of blankets isn't too heavy. Be warm but not smothered.

Relax muscles completely. Find the most comfortable position for sleeping and get into it every night.

Her final tip is to get into bed an hour or more before your regular retiring time. You'll find yourself building up a reserve of rest, she says, and falling asleep without a struggle.

It is bad form, again, for him to reminisce with Pat, in your presence, as if to bring the intimate past up to date. It suggests that she is getting his goat, by her poised ability to take your romance with him in stride, under her nose, and that he is trying crudely to stir the embers, for vanity's sake.

Maybe Pat would or wouldn't marry John again. In any case, I doubt that you could ever succeed with him, where she has failed. So take a tip from his rather heartless behavior, all around—and get yourself a more reliable man.

of 56 million pigs, or 6 per cent more than a year ago.

Output of chicken also is expected to top 1957, when a record 1,400,000,000 birds were sent to market.

Prices for sirloin steak and rib roast are reported two to six cents a pound higher this week, which accounts for the scarcity of beef offerings in the stores. Those that are featuring beef have selected chuck roast, an old standby of the bargain hunter.

Hamburger, once regarded as a low price regular, is selling in the higher brackets these days.

Potatoes rank as the best buy among vegetables, although onions in plastic bags are a little lower this week and should be a good buy.

Lettuce, though trending higher, still is rated a good buy.

Canned and frozen peas are in the bargain class as processors strive to unload big inventories from last year's crop.

Make some good stock out of giblets, wing and necks of chicken, adding onion, carrot, celery, parsley, bay leaf, peppercorns, all-spice and salt. Strain the stock and mix with tomato juice, adding more salt and pepper if needed, and a suspicion of sugar. Serve very hot in cups.

Steelmen Hope Drop in Orders To End Soon

Nonferrous Group Seeks Curb on High Production in World

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — Many steelmen are hoping today that the sudden and unexpectedly steep drop in orders may level off soon. Their nonferrous brethren will settle for signs of an end to world wide over production. Nonferrous metals are those not deriving from iron.

If so, this could bring a halt to the sharp pruning of employee rolls and to the dip in profits which hit most metal companies in the final months of 1957.

When steel, copper, lead and zinc orders will start to climb again is another matter. Optimists hope for a slight seasonal upturn in the spring and a healthier one after labor day.

Both ferrous and non-ferrous companies face wage scale rises in the summer that will boost costs once more. For some time non ferrous prices have been falling and steelmen have been finding it harder to maintain the higher prices they put into effect last summer. At that time steel went up an average of $6 a ton while wages increased seven cents an hour.

To keep from banking still more furnaces some steel companies have taken to absorbing freight costs to win distant markets served by their rivals. Some steel warehouses have cut prices on hot rolled steel products, and other steel firms have cut prices on products for the export market.

The current production of steel is running 41 per cent below year ago figures. Even the last stronghold, structural steel, took a tumble in December, orders dropping 69 per cent below year ago figures.

How the output drop is hurting is shown in U. S. Steel's report that its net profits after taxes in the last three months of 1957 fell 14 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1956.

But a booming first half of the year lifted total 1957 earnings to a record high, 20 per cent above the figures for stifle harassed 1956 and 13 per cent above the previous record year of 1955.

A much smaller firm, Jones & Laughlin, also reports profits in 1957, up 0.7 per cent from 1956. But Republic Steel earnings dipped six per cent and Youngstown Sheet & Tube dropped 1.5 per cent.

Of nine steel companies reporting so far, six lagged behind 1956. Thanks to U. S. Steel's record, their combined profits ran 11 per cent above 1956.

Their nonferrous neighbors in the metal industry have a sadder profit story. Of 11 reporting so far, eight fell behind 1956 earnings. Combined the 11 show net income trailing 1956 by 43.2 per cent. The one big company to report, Kennecott Copper, lists profits as off by 49.5 per cent.

The domestic copper industry has been cutting back production as customer orders lagged and the fabricators lived largely off their inventories.

Hope in the industry for better times ahead is based on two things: 1. Belief that customer inventory cutting has gone about as far as it can; 2. A 10 per cent cutback in output in recent days by most copper firms outside the United States.

Mercy Run Fails To Save Akronite

AKRON —Lester Shahan, 37-year-old Akron bricklayer, lost a 30-mile ambulance race for his life after being stricken with undiagnosed seizures.

Shahan, a World War II veteran of the Anzio battle, had been released from Akron General Hospital in December after similar seizures. He began getting them again Tuesday and was taken back to the hospital.

It was decided to take him to Crile General Hospital in Parma, a Cleveland suburb. But by the time the mercy run reached Parma, Shahan was pronounced dead.

Doctor Uses Hypnosis, Finds Name of Springfield Man

HOUSTON, Tex. — A doctor using hypnosis for the first time evoked Wednesday night the name and address of a man who wandered into police headquarters and said he didn't know who he was.

During the treatment, the man identified himself as Danny Cottrell, Springfield, Ohio.

Lt. R. B. Jordon of the Springfield Police Department told Houston police there are warrants out for Danny Cottrell, 34. One is a non-support charge filed by his wife and the other charging theft by false pretext was filed Jan. 13 by his employer, Alpha Robinson, a tire dealer.

Robinson said he gave Cottrell $205 Jan. 15 to purchase old inner tubes at Bradford, Ohio. Cottrell had been missing since then.

The man later identified as Cottrell, neatly dressed and soft-spoken, walked into police inspector Foy Melton's office and said he didn't remember who he was or where he came from. He said he recalled stopping sometime earlier and asking someone where he could get something for a headache. The passerby directed him to the police station.

Police took him to a hospital. The doctor diagnosed him as an amnesia victim and tried a form of hypnosis he had seen but never used.

The doctor asked: "If I wanted to send you a card where would I send it?" The man answered: "To 1354 Albermarle Road, Springfield, Ohio."

"And to whom would I send it?" "To Danny Cottrell," Cottrell was returned to the police station.

lice station.

Asked if he would be willing to return to Ohio if officers came for him, Cottrell replied: "I don't know of any reason why not. So far as I know I haven't done anything. But I'll be willing to get back and find out if I've done anything wrong. I want to clear it up."

Police did not disclose the name of the doctor.

Dayton Woman, 42, Gets Life Sentence

DAYTON — Common Pleas Judge Robert McBride Wednesday imposed a life sentence in Marysville Reformatory for women on Mrs. Ann Murray, 42. Mrs. Murray was convicted by a jury last Friday of second degree murder in the July 25, 1957 slaying of rs. Alberta Cobb, 59.

Before announcing the sentence,

Judge McBride overruled a defense motion for a new trial.

Police reported that the slaying was the result of jealousy over the attentions of a man friend. Mrs. Cobb was shot as she sat in her kitchen with the man.

First Atom-Powered Ship by 1960?

By JAMES FLOWERS
Central Press Association
Staff Writer

NEW YORK While the interest and imagination of people everywhere has been captured recently by missiles and outer space, there's still big doings in atomic-powered earthbound transportation.

Russia has already launched the first atomic surface ship, a 16,000-ton icebreaker. By 1960, the United States hopes to have the first nuclear-powered merchant vessel plying the oceans.

A few months after the U. S. Navy's nuclear submarine, Nautilus, went to sea early in 1955, President Eisenhower proposed an atomic-powered "Peace Ship" which would demonstrate in a dramatic and practical way that the atom was being put to work to help join the world's nations in peace.

On July 30, 1956, Congress authorized construction of the passenger-cargo merchantman under the guidance and administration of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission and the Maritime administration of the U. S. Department of Commerce, appropriating $42.5 million for the project.

Right now the "dream ship" is shaping up into concrete details: To be called the NS (for "Nuclear Ship") Savannah, her keel is expected to be laid in the spring of 1958, and launching is anticipated about a year later.

THE HULL will follow conventional modern designs, but her superstructure will rest well toward the stern and will have a swept-back look. The NS Savannah don't give up smoke; nuclear fuels don't give off smoke.

Her "pressurized water" type nuclear power plant will be capable of developing a maximum of 22,000 shaft-horsepower, driving the single-screw vessel at better than 20 knots. She will have a total displacement of 22,000 tons.

Now hear this. On a single load-

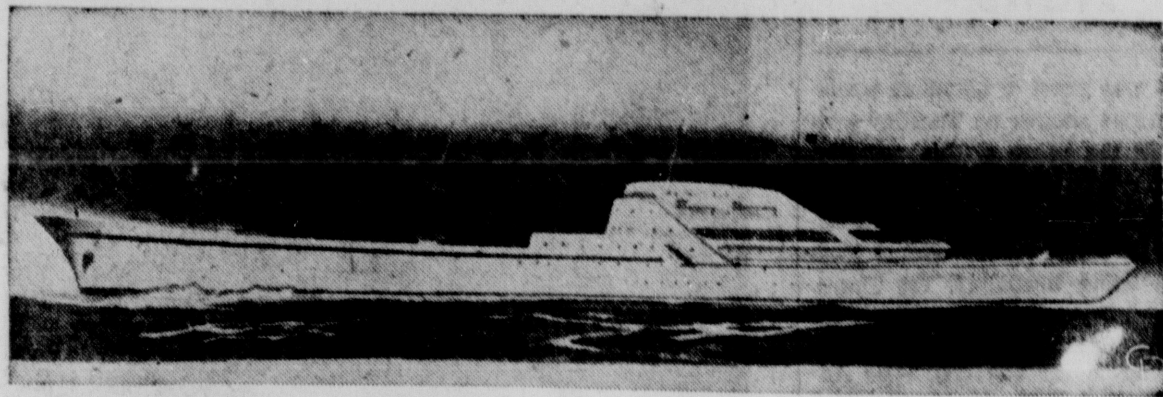

'Mad Dog' Irvin Denied Right To Make Appeal

CHICAGO (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin, 33, forfeited appeal by fleeing from custody while under sentence.

Charged with killing six persons, Irvin was tried for the murder of an Evansville, Ind., filling station attendant on Dec. 23, 1954. He was convicted in Gibson County and sentenced to death.

While awaiting a plea for a new trial, Irvin escaped on Jan. 18, 1956, and was recaptured.

The maximum balance allowed a depositor in U. S. postal savings is $2,500.

ing of nuclear "fuel," she will be able to steam an estimated 350,000 miles, or for three and one-half years!

Work on this super cargo ship got under way last spring when Babcock and Wilcox, manufacturer of marine propulsion and other steam generating equipment, was awarded the prime contract to design, develop, fabricate and supervise the erection of the vessel's nuclear steam propulsion plant.

The De Laval Steam Turbine company was engaged to furnish the main rotating machinery and associated feed system auxiliaries for the vessel. Then George G. Sharp, Inc., marine architects, was awarded the contract to design the ship.

As conceived by the architects, the ship will be 387 feet long, slightly longer than the new Mariner class of cargo-passenger ships. She will have a beam of 78 feet and a draft of 29½ feet.

While carrying 10,000 tons of dry cargo in seven holds, the NS Savannah will accommodate 60 passengers in 30 staterooms, and a crew of 125. Passengers will have at their disposal a swimming pool, bar, cocktail lounge, dance floor and a play area, all located on the promenade deck.

What makes this ship different from all other merchant vessels, of course, is her atomic heart. In simple terms the pressurized water reactor will have a "core" of fuel elements containing uranium. The core will be located inside a five and one-half foot diameter vessel made of eight-inch thick steel to withstand considerable pressure.

WHEN THE URANIUM in the fuel elements is permitted to fission, or sustain a chain reaction, energy will be released in the form of heat. The complete fissioning of one standard nine-foot fuel element containing about five pounds of uranium, for example, will liberate heat roughly equivalent to the energy produced by burning 1,500,000 gallons of fuel oil or 7,000 tons of coal!

This heat will be absorbed and carried by the high pressure circulating water from the reactor to the heat exchangers. The heat exchangers then create the steam to drive the ship's propeller and run her electrical system.

A core loading for the reactor will be made up of 32 fuel elements, each approximately 90 inches long. A single element will contain about 200 stainless steel rods, one-half inch in diameter, filled with uranium oxide having an enrichment of U-235 of approximately three per cent.

To insure maximum operational safety and protection for the crew and passengers, the reactor system will be enclosed in a steel vessel about 500 feet long and 35 feet in diameter. At the same time, the fire hazards presented by inflammable fuels, like coal and oil, will be eliminated, since nuclear fuels don't "burn" in the usual sense.

Will nuclear power be competitive at sea? That's one of the questions that has to be answered through practical operating and building experience of the passenger-cargo type nuclear ship.

One study indicated that an atomic-powered tanker would cost 14 per cent more to operate than a conventional tanker running between the Persian gulf and the East coast of the United States. The study, based on a 38,000-ton vessel, also revealed that while the nuclear tanker would be able to carry more cargo, the construc-

New Hocking River Dam Boomed To Aid Athens

ATHENS (AP)—The Ohio Water Survey Committee was told here Wednesday that another dam on the Hocking River would lessen a water shortage in Athens.

Gordon K. Bush, publisher of the Athens Messenger, declared that a second dam below the present one could be built for approximately $65,000. He said that, besides creating another water reservoir, it would expand the area's recreational facilities.

Soviet Science Plans Sleep-Cutting Gadget

LONDON (AP)—Soviet scientists are working on a machine they say will enable a person to get along fine with two hours sleep a night.

A Moscow broadcast said the "electric sleep machine" gives off ultra short waves which in frequency correspond to the molecules of fatigue toxins which developed in the human body during its waking hours. Because the frequencies correspond, the machine "destroys the fatigue toxins."

In Nevada it is legal to fish any time for catfish, but it is illegal to fish for any other kind of fish two hours after sunset.

First Atom-Powered Ship by 1960?

By JAMES FLOWERS
Central Press Association
Staff Writer

NEW YORK While the interest and imagination of people everywhere has been captured recently by missiles and outer space, there's still big doings in atomic-powered earthbound transportation.

Russia has already launched the first atomic surface ship, a 16,000-ton icebreaker. By 1960, the United States hopes to have the first nuclear-powered merchant vessel plying the oceans.

A few months after the U. S. Navy's nuclear submarine, Nautilus, went to sea early in 1955, President Eisenhower proposed an atomic-powered "Peace Ship" which would demonstrate in a dramatic and practical way that the atom was being put to work to help join the world's nations in peace.

On July 30, 1956, Congress authorized construction of the passenger-cargo merchantman under the guidance and administration of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission and the Maritime administration of the U. S. Department of Commerce, appropriating $42.5 million for the project.

Right now the "dream ship" is shaping up into concrete details: To be called the NS (for "Nuclear Ship") Savannah, her keel is expected to be laid in the spring of 1958, and launching is anticipated about a year later.

THE HULL will follow conventional modern designs, but her superstructure will rest well toward the stern and will have a swept-back look. The NS Savannah don't give up smoke: nuclear fuels don't give off smoke.

Her "pressurized water" type nuclear power plant will be capable of developing a maximum of 22,000 shaft-horsepower, driving the single-screw vessel at better than 20 knots. She will have a total displacement of 22,000 tons.

Now hear this. On a single load-

Expansion of the great steel industry in northwest Indiana threatens these great sand dunes.

Indiana Dunes, after Eons, Facing Possible Extinction

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHESTERTON, Ind. — They have withstood the assault of eons of time and are considered by natural scientists one of the best storehouses of eras millions of years past, but the famous Dunes along the southern fringe of Lake Michigan may be about to yield to the relentless advance of industry.

Currently a pitched battle rages between steel companies which insist that the area is needed for expansion of one of the world's largest steel centers, and groups that want to save the region of low sand mountains as nearly as possible in the natural state.

Scientists back to Dr. Henry Chandler Cowles, who in the 1880s first described the unusual plant and animal life preserved in the Dunes, have classed them among the four most interesting spots in America from a biological science viewpoint.

There is more than just sand in the Dunes, scientists point out, because a quaking bog in the interior is considered by biologists a veritable "Lost World" indicating how the earth may have been millions of years ago during the Paleozoic era when ferns lominated the scene.

Since long before settlers came to North America, the Dunes have been a grand junction for migrating birds, and more than 100 species nest there. More than 1,000 different flowering plants and ferns, many of them unique to this area and traceable to other parts of the world, have mysteriously found a haven there.

THE DUNES have been and still are many things to many different people. Indian trails still are clearly defined through its wilderness. One of the far western battles of the American revolution was fought at an outpost here called Little Fort.

The old stagecoach road from Fort Pontchartrain (Detroit) to Fort Dearborn (Chicago) passed nearby. In 1843, it was planned to start there the city that became Chicago, and Daniel Webster spoke at the site. During the era of exploration, Father Marquette and the explorer De LaSalle took refuge among the great hillocks of shifting sand.

Before Hollywood syphoned off most of the early movie industry from an auspicious start in Chicago, the Dunes served as a "location" for early films with the Sahara desert as locale. Octave Chanute, pioneer aviation authority, used them as the proving ground for his famous gliders which are believed to have been the basis of the Wright brothers' research into heavier-than-air flying craft.

The Dunes have an almost mystical capacity for taking to their bosoms the transitory activities of living creatures and preserving traces of them. This mysticism acted as a magnet to draw many artists and writers, such as Carl Sandburg, Sherwood Anderson and the Dunes painters of the current school, to take up residence there.

There have been many proposals in the past for creating a national park or monument there. Stephen T. Mather, first director of the National Park service and creator of Yosemite, Crater Lake and Yellowstone parks, recommended it officially in 1916, but World War I intervened, and always there has been something to frustrate the move.

Indiana finally set aside 2,000 acres for Dunes State park. This and some protected residential resort areas are the only places where the future of the Dunes is assured in the 25-mile stretch from Chicago on the west to Michigan City, Ind., near the Michigan-Indiana line.

The late Judge Gary 50 years ago chose a dunes site near the Illinois-Indiana line to create Gary, Ind., as the site for the world's largest steel mill. Now the night sky is reddened with reflections of huge blast furnaces clearly seen from the ages-old Dunes, and apparently industry is headed for engulfing more of the territory.

Scientists pointing out the eerie capacity of the Dunes to surmount finally all the more puny works of man with a great flood of relentless sand and say that in the long run they may prevail, but what of the immediate future?

6 Amish Kids Male Wards Of County

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Six Amish children whose parents refused to send them to high school have been taken from their homes to become wards of the Wayne County Child Welfare Board.

The board is to have custody of the five boys and one girl until the end of the current school year in June.

Huron County Juvenile Judge Don Young of Norwalk permitted the children to return home until the board could take charge of them within the next day or two.

The children have completed the eighth grade. Their parents, contending that high school is inconsistent with the agrarian way of life of the Amish sect, refused to send them to high school.

Under Ohio law, all children must attend school until they are 16. The six children are 14 and 15 years old.

Judge Young made the ruling on a complaint filed by Raymond Sidle, Wayne County trustee officer. The Huron County judge was assigned to the case when Wayne County Juvenile Judge Myron T. Breneman of Wooster stepped aside.

The judge also placed Corn on probation for five years after suspending a penitentiary sentence because of Corn's physical condition.

The judge sentenced Corn to a federal penitentiary on four different counts and levied the fine on the fifth.

Corn originally was indicted on eight counts of not filing cabaret tax returns and eight counts of failing to pay the taxes which amounted to about $15,000. A jury found him guilty of five counts of not filing returns and eight counts of not paying the tax. The judge dismissed the eight felony counts.

Expansion of the great steel industry in northwestern Indiana threatens these great sand dunes.

Indiana Dunes, after Eons, Facing Possible Extinction

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHESTERTON, Ind. — They have withstood the assault of eons of time and are considered by natural scientists one of the best storehouses of eras millions of years past, but the famous Dunes along the southern fringe of Lake Michigan may be about to yield to the relentless advance of industry.

Currently a pitched battle rages between steel companies which insist that the area is needed for expansion of one of the world's largest steel centers, and groups that want to save the region of low sand mountains as nearly as possible in the natural state.

Scientists back to Dr. Henry Chandler Cowles, who in the 1880s first described the unusual plant and animal life preserved in the Dunes, have classed them among the four most interesting spots in America from a biological science viewpoint.

There is more than just sand in the Dunes, scientists point out, because a quaking bog in the interior is considered by biologists a veritable "Lost World" indicating how the earth may have been millions of years ago during the Paleozoic era when ferns dominated the scene.

Since long before settlers came to North America, the Dunes have been a grand junction for migrating birds, and more than 100 species nest there. More than 1,000 different flowering plants and ferns, many of them unique to this area and traceable to other parts of the world, have mysteriously found a haven there.

THE DUNES have been and still are many things to many different people. Indian trails still are clearly defined through its wilderness. One of the far western battles of the American revolution was fought at an outpost here called Little Fort.

The old stagecoach road from Fort Pontchartrain (Detroit) to Fort Dearborn (Chicago) passed nearby. In 1843, it was planned to start there the city that became Chicago, and Daniel Webster spoke at the site. During the era of exploration, Father Marquette and the explorer De LaSalle took refuge among the great hillocks of shifting sand.

Before Hollywood syphoned off most of the early movie industry from an auspicious start in Chicago, the Dunes served as a "location" for early films with the Sahara desert as locale. Octave Chanute, pioneer aviation authority, used them as the proving ground for his famous gliders which are believed to have been the basis of the Wright brothers' research into heavier-than-air flying craft.

The Dunes have an almost mystical capacity for taking to their bosoms the transitory activities of living creatures and preserving traces of them. This mysticism acted as a magnet to draw many artists and writers, such as Carl Sandburg, Sherwood Anderson and the Dunes painters of the current school, to take up residence there.

There have been many proposals in the past for creating a national park or monument there. Stephen T. Mather, first director of the National Park service and creator of Yosemite, Crater Lake and Yellowstone parks, recommended it officially in 1916, but World War I intervened, and always there has been something to frustrate the move.

Indiana finally set aside 2,000 acres for Dunes State park. This and some protected residential resort areas are the only places where the future of the Dunes is assured in the 25-mile stretch from Chicago on the west to Michigan City, Ind., near the Michigan-Indiana line.

The late Judge Gary 50 years ago chose a dunes site near the Illinois-Indiana line to create Gary, Ind., as the site for the world's largest steel mill. Now the night sky is reddened with reflections of huge blast furnaces clearly seen from the ages-old Dunes, and apparently industry is headed for engulfing more of the territory.

Scientists pointing out the eerie capacity of the Dunes to surmount finally all the more puny works of man with a great flood of relentless sand say that in the long run they may yet prevail, but what of the immediate future?

Judge Hands Corn Fine of $5,000 In Tax Hearing

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood Wednesday fined Dustin E. (Ducky) Corn, Ironton councilman, $5,000 for failing to file cabaret tax returns for a night club Corn operates.

The judge also placed Corn on probation for five years after suspending a penitentiary sentence because of Corn's physical condition.

The judge sentenced Corn to a federal penitentiary on four different counts and levied the fine on the fifth.

Corn originally was indicted on eight counts of not filing cabaret tax returns and eight counts of failing to pay the taxes which amounted to about $15,000. A jury found him guilty of five counts of not filing returns and eight counts of not paying the tax. The judge dismissed the eight felony counts.

6 Amish Kids Male Wards Of County

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Six Amish children whose parents refused to send them to high school have been taken from their homes to be committed to the Wayne County Child Welfare Board.

The board is to have custody of the five boys and one girl until the end of the current school year in June.

Huron County Juvenile Judge Don Young of Norwalk permitted the children to return home until the board could take charge of them within the next day or two.

The children have completed the eighth grade. Their parents, contending that high school is inconsistent with the agrarian way of life of the Amish sect, refused to send them to high school.

Under Ohio law, all children must attend school until they are 16. The six children are 14 and 15 years old.

Judge Young made the ruling on a complaint filed by Raymond Side, Wayne County trustee officer. The Huron County judge was assigned to the case when Wayne County Juvenile Judge Myron T. Brenneman of Wooster stepped aside.

St. John's '5' Faces Trouble

Undefeated Status Viewed as Shaky

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What had figured to be the beginning of a chance at prestige could tonight be the beginning of the end for St. John's of Brooklyn, last of the unbeaten in major college basketball.

St. John's (9-0) took over the undefeated list when West Virginia, top-ranked for six weeks in The Associated Press poll, was knocked off Monday at Duke.

But now the Redmen, rated 13th, have lost big man (6-6) Lou Rothel to injury for tonight's road game against Pittsburgh. He'll still be missing Saturday at Philadelphia against 11th-rated Temple.

After that, it's West Virginia at Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

Only one of the top 10 was busy Wednesday night. Eighth-ranked Kentucky belted Georgia 74-55 and reclaimed full share of the South-eastern Conference lead. The Wildcats (13-4), in the midst of a three-game road scholastic, fell in to a tie for the top with Georgia Tech when the Engineers upset 'em Monday.

Vern Hatten led Kentucky scoring with 20 points against Georgia, but it was the second half sharp-shooting of reserve Earl Adkins that got the job done. Adkins scored 14 points, all in the last 20 minutes.

Notre Dame, whipped by 11 at Louisville, peppered the Cardinals 73-53 at South Bend. Dayton defeated Xavier of Ohio 74-59. A balanced attack brought Duquesne an easy 66-58 decision over St. Francis of Brooklyn.

St. Joseph's (Pa) defeated Lafayette 98-97, and NYU ended Fordham's winning streak at four, 90-73. Army eased home for a 76-66 victory over Siena, the Air Force defeated Creighton 63-52, Brown defeated Northeastern 91-77, and Montana, the Skyline leader, was beaten 72-63 by Montana State in a non-conference game. Marshall whipped St. Francis (Pa) 100-96.

Dayton Flyers Slip Xavier By 74-59

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dayton Flyers, one of the winningest major college basketball teams in the nation swept past Xavier, 74-59, Wednesday night to post their 15th win.

The traditional battle between the two Roman Catholic universities started out as most of their previous battles have—hard fought. However, in the closing minutes of the first half, the Flyers began to pull away.

During the second half the Musketeers were never able to get closer than seven points and at one time trailed by 16.

Don Lane dumped in 23 points for the victors. Xavier, now with a 12-4 mark, had something of an oddity in scoring. Five of six Musketeers who scored wound up with 11 points.

In the only other game in the state, Akron handed the slumping Toledo Rockets their eighth loss in 13 starts, 65-39.

The Rockets, who won their first four games this season, looked like they were on their way to their sixth victory in the first half but the Zips (11-4) roared back in the second stanza to hold Toledo to 16 points. The Rockets had a 43-25 lead at intermission.

Steuernville was the only other Ohio team in action, and continued its winning ways by dropping Detroit Tech 77-68 on the Michigan court. It was victory No. 18 for the Barons. They have lost one.

Conked Bowler Sues Alley for $25,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A man struck by a bowling ball sued for $25,000 damages Wednesday.

Thomas Kincaid, 43, alleged he suffered a permanent brain injury March 11, 1957, at the Lagens Recreation Parlor. He sued for damages from the owners, George Lagens and Leo Thomas, and from a patron, William Lapp.

The suit said Lapp took a ball from a rack and began swinging it. The ball slipped from Lapp's hand, sailed 30 feet through the air and hit Kincaid. The suit said an alley employee had oiled the finger holes of the ball and that the proprietors were negligent.

Celtics Chalk 17th On Home Court

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics are a tough club to beat on any National Basketball Assn. court. But they're virtually invincible at home, particularly when Bob Cousy is dumping in 39 points.

Just when it appears that the Celts are going to drop back to the rest of the Eastern Division pack, they're back in Boston Garden to pick up another victory.

Wednesday night, they rallied in the second half to whip the St. Louis Hawks 111-101 in the night's only NBA action. That made it 17 straight home victories.

Musial, Williams Setting More Marks in Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ever since they have been in the major leagues, Stan Musial and Ted Williams have bettered one baseball record or another.

Now Musial has added another one to his long list. Put it under "highest annual salary, National League"—$100,000. The St. Louis slugger signed for that figure Wednesday.

Stan's salary is not a major league mark only because Williams is expected to hit $125,000 when he comes to terms with the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's contract represented a $20,000 boost over 1957. The 37-year-old veteran earned it with his league-leading .351 average coupled with 29 homers and 102 runs batted in.

Williams, 39, who is more concerned with fishing than baseball at the moment, should have no trouble reaching a salary agreement with the Red Sox. Ted's .388 batting performance of last season is a good "line" and $125,000 is excellent "bait."

Almost from the start of Musial's career in 1941 baseball fans have been arguing whether he or Williams is the better hitter.

At the moment, Williams leads in lifetime batting average—.350 to .340; home runs—456 to 381; and runs batted in—1,639 to 1,572. Musial shows the way, however, in batting titles with seven to Ted's five and in Most Valuable Player awards, three to two.

Right-handed pitcher Murry Dickson, 41, who was Musial's teammate for many seasons until he was unconditionally released last fall will try for a 1958 comeback with the Kansas City Athletics.

He was signed on the recommendation of his old ball-battermate, catcher Walker Cooper. Another veteran, Mickey Vernon, also moved on. He was sold by the Red Sox to the Cleveland Indians in a straight "waiver deal." Vernon, 39, is a two-time American League batting champion.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, the National League leader in 1955, came to terms for an estimated $27,500. The fleet outfielder batted .297 last year. Cincinnati signed lefty pitcher Joe Nuxhall, the New York Yankees rounded up pitcher Art Ditmar and outfielder Bobby Del Greco and Washington bailed in the contracts of second basemen Herb Pless and Bob Malkmus, outfielders Jerry Schoonmaker.

Cincy Council OKs Aid for Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Only the formal signing of an agreement is needed today to get the city of Cincinnati started on its plan to spend $2 million to provide at least 2,600 parking spaces near the Redlegs' Crosley Field.

The council voted, 7-2, Wednesday to approve the agreement with Powell Crosley Jr., president of the Redlegs, and issue the bonds. The city, with promised financial help from Hamilton County, will provide the parking space in return for an agreement by Crosley to keep the National League baseball club here at least five years.

Yale sophomore Tim Jecko set new NCAA swimming records when he won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly events in 1957.

Lyles Alley is coaching Furman University basketball for the 12th season. His 11-season record is 145-127.

and Carlos Paula and pitcher Bob Wiesler. The Senators also sold outfielder-first baseman Art Schult to Minneapolis of the American Assn. for an undisclosed sum.

Bethea Wins So-Called Heavy Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Young Jack Johnson, who isn't young at 29, is fighting under an alias and may be it's just as well.

His real name is John Storey, and the story goes that his handlers tabbed him with the Johnson moniker because he was supposed to have the build and the style of the former heavyweight great of yesteryear.

Johnson had only two fights in the last two years and the rustiness of the 214-pounder from Los Angeles was glaringly apparent in Wednesday night's nationally televised bout in Chicago Stadium.

Through 10 drab rounds, Johnson and Wayne Bethea of New York clubbed at each other, pawed wearily, and clinched while 1,002 ringside customers booed. Bethea, 204, rated the No. 10 contender by the National Boxing Assn. and No. 8 by Ring Magazine, took a unanimous decision.

The gate netted only $934 but each fighter picked up $4,000 in TV proceeds for going through the motions in a bout which one fan described as "a fine example of how the heavyweight division has deteriorated."

Both were heralded as heavy fisted. For the most part they handled their hands like hams and there wasn't a hint of a knockout.

St. Paul, EUB Win Contests

Laurelville Leading Area In Victories

With an .857 winning percentage the Laurelville Wildcats retained their stranglehold on first place among the area teams.

The Wildcats suffered their second loss of the year two weeks ago but continued to head up the area teams. They also lead offensively with a 64.4 average. Defensively the Wildcats fell two points from first position, allowing their opponents 52 points per game.

Centralla followed closely behind the Wildcats with a 63 offensive average in 15 games. The Bulldogs are tops defensively with a 50.3 average.

The Stoutsville Indians are the third team with a winning percentage, .533, on eight wins against seven defeats. They are also fighting a close battle to keep ahead of the opposition's total. Stoutsville has a per game average of 59.4 points and have held the opponents to 59.1 points.

'No-Harm, No-Foul' Ruling Trimming Big Ten Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten basketball teams, probably due to the conference's "no-harm, no-foul" principle in officiating, are scoring 2.3 points per game less than their 1957 season averages.

Official statistics released today disclosed conference teams are averaging 71.5 points per game for the first 26 league contests played this season.

While scoring is down, however, so are personal fouls which have dropped from a 1957 average of 17.9 per game to 15.0 to date this season.

Semester examinations held competition to a minimum last week. As a result, there was little change in team standings or statistics.

However, the race swings back into high gear Saturday with a four-game conference program highlighted by first-place Michigan's tussle with invading Purdue in a regional TV matinee. Michigan has a 3-1 record and Purdue stands 2-3.

Saturday night games include Ohio State (4-2) at Iowa (3-3); Minnesota (1-4) at Michigan State (3-2); and Northwestern (3-3) at Illinois (1-3). Indiana (3-2) has a non-loop appearance at De Paul. Wisconsin (3-3) is idle.

The Big Ten's two scoring leaders, Archie Dees of Indiana and Don Ohl of Illinois, marked time in the individual race with averages of 26.6 and 24.3.

Minnesota's George Kline, although playing in two losing games, held third place with a 22.4 average.

Chief scoring change found Purdue's Willie Merriweather soar from 17th to 7th place with 29 points in a losing effort against Ohio State Monday night. Only other newcomer to the top 10 was Ron Johnson of Minnesota, who climbed from 14th to a 9th place tie with Governor Vaughn of Illinois and M. C. Burton of Michigan at 16.8.

Other leaders and their averages included: Pete Tillotson, Michigan, fourth, 20.8; Dave Gunther, Iowa, fifth, 19.2; Frank Howard, Ohio State, sixth, 18.5; and Jerry Thompson, Indiana, eighth, 17.0.

Michigan State's John Green, although 12th in scoring with a 16.0 average, leads the league in rebounds with a 5-game average of 18. Howard is next with an average of 16 retrieves in 6 games.

Darby Trojans Leading in Win Column

The Darby Trojans continued their mastery over Pickaway County basketball with a 923 winning percentage on 12 victories in 13 outings.

The Trojans have two more league contests before they can claim title to an unblemished year. One more win and they will be assured of a tie.

Darby also leads the county offensively with a 71 point average for 13 games. They rank second defensively, holding their opponents to an average of 47.3 points per game.

New Holland remained in second position percentage-wise this past week with a .786 average with 11 wins in 14 games. The Bulldogs are No. 1 in the defensive standings with a 42.5 average.

The Dutchman play a deliberate brand of ball and have lost two recent games because their opposition has made them play a fast and speedy game.

Scioto placed third with a .750 average on a 12-4 record. The Buffaloes rate second offensively with a 70.7 point per game average. Against this is the fact that Scioto is next to the bottom defensively, allowing its opponents 62.9 points per game, second only to Monroe with 69.2.

Ashtabula remained in fourth place with a .733 average with 11 victories against four defeats. The Broncos had a reaction from too much football earlier in the season, but have snapped out of their tightness to win five straight.

The Broncos are third county-wide offensively with a 68.5 average and fifth on defense with a 56.9 average.

Though the Walnut Tigers have been seesawing back and forth all year they have a 9-5 record. Considering that the Tigers are the No. 1 hot and cold team in the county, they have been fortunate in meeting some weaker teams when their basketball ability left them. The Tigers rank third defensively with a 54.8 average.

Williamsport rounds out the teams with a winning percentage with a .533 average on an 8-7 record. They have a 60.1 offensive average and are narrowly over the opposition's scoring per game of 59 points.

Atlanta still continued as the lowest scorer with a 42.5 points per game.

St. John's '5' Faces Trouble

Undefeated Status Viewed as Shaky

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What had figured to be the beginning of a chance at prestige could tonight be the beginning of the end for St. John's of Brooklyn, last of the unbeaten in major college basketball.

St. John's (9-0) took over the undefeated list when West Virginia, top-ranked for six weeks in The Associated Press poll, was knocked off Monday at Duke.

But now the Redmen, rated 13th, have lost big man (6-6) Lou Rothel to injury for tonight's road game against Pittsburgh. He'll still be missing Saturday at Philadelphia against 11th-rated Temple.

After that, it's West Virginia at Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

Only one of the top 10 was busy Wednesday night. Eighth-ranked Kentucky belted Georgia 74-55 and reclaimed full share of the South-eastern Conference lead. The Wildcats (13-4), in the midst of a three-game road schedule, fell into a tie for the top with Georgia Tech when the Engineers upset 'em Monday.

Vern Hatton led Kentucky scoring with 20 points against Georgia, but it was the second half sharp-shooting of reserve Earl Adkins that got the job done. Adkins scored 14 points, all in the last 20 minutes.

Notre Dame, whipped by 11 at Louisville, peppered the Cardinals 73-53 at South Bend. Dayton defeated Xavier of Ohio 74-59. A balanced attack brought Duquesne an easy 66-58 decision over St. Francis of Brooklyn.

St. Joseph's (Pa.) defeated Lafayette 98-97, and NYU ended Fordham's winning streak at four, 90-73. Army eased home for a 76-66 victory over Siena, the Air Force defeated Creighton 63-52, Brown defeated Northeastern 91-77, and Montana, the Skyline leader, was beaten 72-63 by Montana State in a non-conference game. Marshall whipped St. Francis (Pa.) 100-96.

Dayton Flyers Slip Xavier By 74-59

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dayton Flyers, one of the winningest major college basketball teams in the nation swept past Xavier, 74-59, Wednesday night to post their 15th win.

The traditional battle between the two Roman Catholic universities started out as most of their previous battles have—hard fought. However, in the closing minutes of the first half, the Flyers began to pull away.

During the second half the Musketeers were never able to get closer than seven points and at one time trailed by 16.

Don Lane dumped in 23 points for the victors. Xavier, now with a 12-4 mark, had something of an oddity in scoring. Five of six Musketeers who scored wound up with 11 points.

In the only other game in the state, Akron handed the slumping Toledo Rockets their eighth loss in 15 starts, 65-59.

The Rockets, who won their first four games this season, looked like they were on their way to their sixth victory in the first half but the Zips (11-4) roared back in the second stanza to hold Toledo to 16 points. The Rockets had a 43-25 lead at intermission.

Steuersville was the only other Ohio team in action, and continued its winning ways by dropping Detroit Tech 77-68 on the Michigan court. It was victory No. 18 for the Barons. They have lost one.

Conked Bowler Sues Alley for $25,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A man struck by a bowling ball sued for $25,000 damages Wednesday.

Thomas Kincaid, 43, alleged he suffered a permanent brain injury March 11, 1957, at the Lagers Recreation Parlor. He sued for damages from the owners, George Lagers and Leo Thomas, and from a patron, William Lapp.

The suit said Lapp took a ball from a rack and began swinging it. The ball slipped from Lapp's hand, sailed 20 feet through the air and hit Kincaid. The suit said an alley employee had oiled the finger holes of the ball and that the proprietors were negligent.

Celtics Chalk 17th On Home Court

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics are a tough club to beat on any National Basketball Assn. court. But they're virtually invincible at home, particularly when Bob Cousy is dumping in 39 points.

Just when it appears that the Celtics are going to drop back to the rest of the Eastern Division pack, they're back in Boston Garden to pick up another victory.

Wednesday night, they rallied in the second half to whip the St. Louis Hawks 111-101 in the night's only NBA action. That made it 17 straight home victories.

Musial, Williams Setting More Marks in Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ever since they have been in the major leagues, Stan Musial and Ted Williams have bettered one baseball record or another.

Now Musial has added another one to his long list. Put it under "highest annual salary, National League"—$100,000. The St. Louis slugger signed for that figure Wednesday.

Stan's salary is not a major league mark only because Williams is expected to hit $125,000 when he comes to terms with the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's contract represented a $20,000 boost over 1957. The 37-year-old veteran earned it with his league-leading .351 average coupled with 29 homers and 102 runs batted in.

Williams, 39, who is more concerned with fishing than baseball at the moment, should have no trouble reaching a salary agreement with the Red Sox. Ted's .388 batting performance of last season is a good "line" and $125,000 is excellent "bait."

Almost from the start of Musial's career in 1941 baseball fans have been arguing whether he or Williams is the better hitter.

At the moment, Williams leads in lifetime batting average—.350 to .340; home runs—456 to 381; and runs batted in—1,639 to 1,572. Musial shows the way, however, in batting titles with seven to Ted's five and in Most Valuable Player awards, three to two.

Right-handed pitcher Murry Dickson, 41, who was Musial's teammate for many seasons until he was unconditionally released last fall will try for a 1958 comeback with the Kansas City Athletics.

He was signed on the recommendation of his old batterymate, catcher Walker Cooper.

Another veteran, Mickey Vernon, also moved on. He was sold by the Red Sox to the Cleveland Indians in a straight "waiver deal." Vernon, 39, is a two-time American League batting champion.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, the National League leader in 1955, came to terms for an estimated $27,500. The fleet outfielder batted .297 last year.

Cincinnati signed lefty pitcher Joe Nuxhall, the New York Yankees rounded up pitcher Art Ditmar and outfielder Bobby Del Greco and Washington hauled in the contracts of second basemen Herb Plews and Bob Makmus, outfielders Jerry Schoonmaker.

Cincy Council OKs Aid for Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Only the formal signing of an agreement is needed today to get the city of Cincinnati started on its plan to spend $2 million to provide at least 2,600 parking spaces near the Redlegs' Crosley Field.

The council voted, 7-2, Wednesday to approve the agreement with Powell Crosley Jr., president of the Redlegs, and issue the bonds. The city, with promised financial help from Hamilton County, will provide the parking space in return for an agreement by Crosley to keep the National League baseball club here at least five years.

Yale sophomore Tim Jecko set new NCAA swimming records when he won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly events in 1957.

Lyles Alley is coaching Furman University basketball for the 12th season. His 11-season record is 145-127.

and Carlos Paula and pitcher Bob Wiesler. The Senators also sold outfielder-first baseman Art Schult to Minneapolis of the American Assn. for an undisclosed sum.

Bethea Wins So-Called Heavy Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Young Jack Johnson, who isn't young at 29, is fighting under an alias and may be it's just as well.

His real name is John Storey, and the story goes that his handlers tabbed him with the Johnson moniker because he was supposed to have the build and the style of the former heavyweight great of yesteryear.

Johnson had only two fights in the last two years and the rustiness of the 214-pounder from Los Angeles was glaringly apparent in Wednesday night's nationally televised bout in Chicago Stadium.

Through 10 draw rounds, Johnson and Wayne Bethea of New York clubbed at each other, pawed wearily, and clinched while 1,002 ring side customers booed. Bethea, 204, rated the No. 10 contender by the National Boxing Assn. and No. 8 by Ring Magazine, took a unanimous decision.

The gate netted only $34,000 in TV proceeds for going through the motions in a bout which one fan described as "a fine example of how the heavyweight division has deteriorated."

Both were heralded as heavy fisted. For the most part they handled their hands like hams and there wasn't a hint of a knockout.

St. Paul, EUB Win Contests

Pontious EUB downed Calvary Nazarene, 70-30, and St. Paul's Lutheran dropped Trinity Lutheran, 50-41, in local church league basketball this week.

Pontious was paced by Dallas Valentine with 21 points. Don Hinton and Bob Goodman had 14 each. Lee was high for the losers with 10.

Hedges with 12, Smith with 11 points. Don Hinton and Bob Goodman had 14 each. Lee was high for the losers with 10.

Hedges with 12, Smith with 11 and Bumgarner with 10 sparked St. Paul's victory. Rhoades was tops for Trinity with 17 markers. Smith and Mace collected 11 each.

Laurelville Leading Area In Victories

With an .857 winning percentage the Laurelville Wildcats retained their stranglehold on first place among the area teams.

The Wildcats suffered their second loss of the year two weeks ago but continued to head up the area teams. They also lead offensively with a .644 average. Defensively the Wildcats fell two points from first position, allowing their opponents 52 points per game.

Centralia followed closely behind the Wildcats with a .63 offensive average in 15 games. The Bulldogs are tops defensively with a .503 average.

The Stoutsville Indians are the third team with a winning percentage, .533, on eight wins against seven defeats. They are also fighting a close battle to keep ahead of the opposition's total. Stoutsville has a per game average of 59.4 points and have held the opponents to 59.1 points.

'No-Harm, No-Foul' Ruling Trimming Big Ten Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten basketball teams, probably due to the conference's "no-harm, no-foul" principle in officiating, are scoring 2.3 points per game less than their 1957 season averages.

Official statistics released today disclosed conference teams are averaging 71.5 points per game for the first 26 league contests played this season.

While scoring is down, however, so are personal fouls which have dropped from a 1957 average of 17.9 per game to 15.0 to date this season.

Semester examinations held competition to a minimum last week. As a result, there was little change in team standings or statistics.

However, the race swings back into high gear Saturday with a four-game conference program highlighted by first-place Michigan's tussle with invading Purdue in a regional TV matinee. Michigan has a 3-1 record and Purdue stands 2-3.

Saturday night games include Ohio State (4-2) at Iowa (3-3); Minnesota (1-4) at Michigan State (3-2); and Northwestern (3-3) at Illinois (1-3). Indiana (3-2) has a non-loop appearance at De Paul, Wisconsin (3-3) is idle.

The Big Ten's two scoring leaders, Archie Dees of Indiana and Don Ohl of Illinois, marked time in the individual race with averages of 26.6 and 24.3.

Minnesota's George Kline, although playing in two losing games, held third place with a 22.4 average.

Chief scoring change found Pur-

due's Willie Merriweather soar from 17th to 7th place with 29 points in a losing effort against Ohio State Monday night. Only other newcomer to the top 10 was Ron Johnson of Minnesota, who climbed from 14th to a 9th place tie with Governor Vaughn of Illinois and M. C. Burton of Michigan at 16.8.

Other leaders and their averages included: Pete Tillotson, Michigan, fourth, 20.8; Dave Gunther, Iowa, fifth, 19.2; Frank Howard, Ohio State, sixth, 18.5; and Jerry Thompson, Indiana, eighth, 17.0.

Michigan State's John Green, although 12th in scoring with a 16.0 average, leads the league in rebounds with a 5-game average of 18. Howard is next with an average of 16 retrieves in 6 games.
